Carousel Bar & Lounge

"Piano Bar"

John Austin tickles the ivories at this piano bar from Wednesday through Saturday, but the real attraction is the Carousel Bar & Lounge itself at Hotel Monteleone. It's a carousel and really does revolve - all the time. The music goes until late and the cocktails served are out of this world like the "Truffletini" which is a mix of Bailey's Irish Cream with liqueurs. The ambiance has a slight feel of a Moulin Rouge setting, with bold lighting and motifs.

French 75

"Classic Cocktails and More"

The French 75 is an iconic cocktail bar located in the historic Arnaud's restaurant in New Orleans. Known for its classic ambiance and timeless elegance, the French 75 is a favorite destination for cocktail enthusiasts. The atmosphere of the French 75 is sophisticated and inviting, with a vintage-inspired decor that reflects the bar's rich history. The drink menu at the French 75 showcases a selection of handcrafted cocktails and a unique selection of wines, including both timeless classics and unique creations.The bar also serves a selection of appetizers and small plates to complement the drinks, making it a perfect spot for a pre-dinner drink or a late-night gathering.

Razzoo Bar & Patio

"Dancing, Live Bands & Karaoke"

There are several bars on Bourbon Street that are indistinguishable from one another after several drinks. Razzoo Bar & Patio separates itself from the others with an incredible back courtyard, ample seating and live music that is usually pretty good. The musicians here play with soul, which is a rare thing to hear on Bourbon Street. Drink prices are reasonable and there is a daily three-for-one happy hour.

One Eyed Jacks

"Jumpin Jack!"

Grab your favorite brew and enjoy the underground bar scene at One Eyed Jacks. If a refined and elegant ambiance and soft music is what you are looking for, this definitely isn't the place for you! Burlesque performances, edgy punk and rock live acts, low-grade films and plenty of testosterone are what you can expect to find here. The bright colors and enthusiastic performances add to the vibrant atmosphere. A lot of events are scheduled, so check the website for your favorite.

Lafitte's Blacksmith Shop Bar

"Unique Bourbon Street Bar"

Lafitte's Blacksmith Shop Bar is (as its name implies) located in a former blacksmith's shop and safe house for smugglers during the 1800s. It boasts of having survived the fire that burned down the French Quarter in the late 1800s and being the oldest building to house a bar in the United States. In the back of the bar, a musician plays a grand piano and croons through drunken sing-a-longs like Piano Man and You've Lost That Lovin' Feeling. The bar has reasonably priced drinks compared to many of its Bourbon Street counterparts and is the best bet on Bourbon Street if your feet are tired from walking and you have had your fill of raucous mayhem.

MRB Bar & Kitchen

"Games and Drinks"

With the growth of New Orleans, MRB Bar & Kitchen has become a cool spot and is frequented by people belonging to all walks of life. As with other bars in the neighborhood, friendliness and simple décor set the scene. Head here for drinks and bar snacks, and for some fun, you can choose from a wide array of games. The outdoor patio is a good setting to end your day with a cool glass of beer, while the locals cheer on their victory shuffling weights over the board.

Molly's at the Market

"A Toast to New Orleans"

Molly's at the Market opened its doors for the first time in 1974 and has been an integral part of the New Orleans experience ever since. This bar is unique for its diverse set of customers, relaxed atmosphere and excellent service. The Frozen Irish Coffee is a customer favorite and the drinks come at an affordable price. This is the neighborhood's favorite old bar where beer taps flow into the wee hours of the morning.

The Rusty Nail

"Aint No Rusty Music"

An easy-breezy and unpretentious place, Rusty Nail is one of those spots one can actually unwind after a long day at work or simply come here to enjoy the music and ambiance. Rusty Nail is an off-track bar boasting a wide selection of cocktails and a well-stocked bar. Blues and jazz are the order of the day, as this is a stage for many upcoming New Orleans musicians. Sit outside and try their signature Rusty Nail cocktail or something from their vast scotch collection.

"Live Music and Lovely Lagers"

Fancy good music and a cold beer at the end of your day? Head to d.b.a., where they host live performances and serve draft beer, Belgian draft beer, and hand-drawn ales. There is also a wine list, a whiskey list and a brandy list. The amount of liquor served here is mind-boggling. If you're there for the live music, you won't be disappointed.

Maple Leaf Bar

"Funky Live Music Bar"

While the clubs in the French Quarter usually get most of the attention, they are not the only ones that hold good times with even better music. This hot spot in the Carrollton District does require a cab ride, but is well worth the fare. A funky but fun atmosphere characterizes this club that is popular mainly for dancing. Club goers pick their spots then move and groove to the sounds of blues, zydeco and R&B.
