Bravo Caffé

"Central Locale, Jazz & More"

The Bravo Caffé is a place that has only been open a few years yet has managed to acquire a large clientele. The place itself is very nice: walls painted in contrasting colors (red and blue), large tables and smaller ones for couples, comfortable seats, warm and welcoming atmosphere. At Bravo Caffé you can have lunch, an aperitif, have dinner, sip cocktails and drink good wine - the selection of wines is not large but accurate - or drink homemade sangria. With its live music, the Bravo Caffé has earned its place on the jazz circuit, and has taken part in the city's jazz festivals such as "Jazz in Town" in 1998. The reason for its success is probably due to its location as well as the good service and nice surroundings, being in Via Mascarella, next to the Odeon and opposite the Jam Club.

Cantina Bentivoglio

"Bologna's Famous Jazz Bar"

Cantina Bentivoglio is in the old wine cellars of the prestigious Palazzo Bentivoglio. The Cantina Bentivoglio has been synonymous to live jazz for over ten years. There is live music every evening and concerts of international reputation. The wine is excellent (supplied from the enormous wine cellar) and there is a choice to suit all palates and wallets. The club has a kind of warm rustic feeling to it and you can enjoy dinner there. ## Covo

"A Den for Music Lovers"

In a cottage just outside the center, Il Covo is one of Bologna's historical sites where some rather historical concerts are held: from local groups and singers to big international stars. You will need a membership card to come here. It consists of bar-pub area with a wide selection of beers and cocktails, a room where there is usually music and DJs and a bigger room where concerts are held. The latter can be a bit suffocating when it's full of people! For the calendar of events it is best to telephone.
