Washington-Grizzly Stadium

"Home of The Grizzlies"

Owned and operated by the University of Montana, the Washington-Grizzly Stadium is one of the most iconic football stadiums in the city. Home to the Montana Grizzlies, spectators flock to this venue by the thousands for a chance to catch the local favorites in action. Stop by for a live game, and join in the excitement of the fans, as they rally on their team. This is also one of the biggest outdoor stadiums in the state.

Carousel for Missoula

"A ride that makes kids scream"

In this hectic age of computer-created diversions, it is truly refreshing, and even somewhat calming, to lay eyes upon an old-fashioned carousel. Located in Caras Park, this merry-go-round features 38 horses that were all individually hand-carved and painted by local artists. The detail is stunning, not surprising because each horse on average, took 800 hours to carve and paint. The accompanying Stinson Band Organ, with its 400 pipes, ranks as the largest carousel organ in the country. A three-and-a-half minute ride costs a mere 50 cents. A gift shop is on-site.

Montana Natural History Center

"Striving For Natural Awareness"

The Montana Natural History Center in Missoula strives to promote awareness about nature, paying particular attention to western Montana's natural history. Fun for kids and adults alike, it hosts community programs that include educational outreach and entertaining events like trivia night and nature walks. The museum offers naturalist programs and field days for adults, as well as summer camps and a slew of exhibits designed to catch the eye of your little ones. The natural landscape is such an integral part of what makes "The Treasure State" so special, so anyone traveling through Missoula would be remiss to skip the informative and entertaining Montana Natural History Center.

Big Dipper Ice Cream

"Homemade Ice Cream Indulgences"

It's not everyday that a local ice-cream shop is rated the best on Good Morning America. With this, and several other accolades under its belt, the Big Dipper Ice Cream is one of Montana's most favored spots for homemade ice-cream. Occupying a small space on Higgins Avenue in South Missoula, Big Dipper Ice Cream serves deliciously quirky flavors, from White Mint Oreo and Maple Walnut, to Mexican Chocolate, and Salted Caramel. To add to its charm, it operates out of a cute counter-serve shop, with large picnic benches outside, so that you can enjoy your favorite flavors under Montana's starry skies.
