Starplex Woodbridge Movies 5

"Pocket-friendly Movie Theatre"

Located at the Woodbridge Square Shopping Center, Woodbridge Movies 5 is one of the most popular cinemas in the city. With a retro vibe and old fashioned seats, the cinema screens popular Hollywood releases at affordable rates. With 11 screens, there is a nice selection of films to choose from, including kid friendly options. Pick up a bite to eat at their concession stand, which sells the usual candy, pop corn and ever popular hot-dogs as you settle in to watch a film. Ticket prices are very reasonable at USD2 before 6p, USD3 post 6p and they even screen 3D films at USD4 through the day. A great place for a budget friendly outing with family and friends.

Edwards Irvine Spectrum 21 IMAX & RPX

"Larger Than Life Entertainment"

Edwards, a popular chain of theatres is run by the Regal Entertainment Group. With world-class amenities as well as some truly unique characteristics, Edwards Irvine Spectrum 21 & IMAX is a great place to catch up on the latest Hollywood Blockbusters and releases. The first Megaplex to open in OC, the theatre is still one of the best places to watch a film in the area. It is conveniently located at the Irvine Spectrum Center, a lively shopping center with plenty of restaurants and shops. With 21 screens, there is always something to watch. For a luxurious viewing experience, enhanced by the marble accents, bright murals and mosaic floors, it's a good place to check out.

The New Port Theater

"Iconic Theater Enjoys Modern Rebirth"

The Port Theater was one of the first major attractions for Newport Beach, opened in 1949 before the city's airport and shopping mall overshadowed this cultural institution. Controversy over midnight screenings forced the theater to shut down in the mid-90s, and after fifteen years of stagnation in the midst of property disputes, this Corona del Mar icon has been given a new lease on life as well as a complete face lift. Stylish modern decor retains the original spirit of the theater, the theater's iconic sign once more lit up over Pacific Coast Highway. Following current luxury theater trends, the theater offers gourmet food and beverages which guests can enjoy during the movie such as upscale popcorn, bottled beverages and coffee drinks as well as "Port Dogs", the theater's signature franks. An important part of this picture-perfect beach town's small village charm, The Port Theater is nothing short of an essential institution.
