Mocambo Restaurant

"King of Continental"

Mocambo may not look very interesting from the outside but it has been a city favorite since 1956! Situated in the famed Park Street, Mocambo serves Indian, Continental and Chinese cuisine. However, once you step inside you'll notice Continental be the most favored option. The 'Chateaubriand', 'Fish Florentine', 'Devil's Crab' and 'Fish a la Diana' have been local hits for the longest time now. The restaurant has an impressive wine list and a variety of other spirits; steer clear of the cocktails though. The interiors maintain a curious sense of old world charm and the warm hues create quite a comfortable setting for an enjoyable meal!

Piccadilly Square

"Vegetarian Delight"

Piccadilly Square is a lovely place for all those veggie lovers who prefer to eat in an all-veg restaurant. It serves some extremely delicious veg food apart from its other bakery items. It is a well know eating outlet for vegetarian delicacies. It also has good dessert collections and some of them include blueberry pancakes, chocolate shake and waffles. It does not fall very heavy on your pocket as the items are moderately priced. Overall, the place is very small but a good restaurant to spend an evening with friends.
