Murivecchi

"Screams Softly Spoken"

This area of Barcelona is known for trendy restaurants which usually cater to an upper class clientele. Murivecchi, however, does not meet this mold and relies instead on the quiet and subtle decor that is so typical of traditional Italian restaurants, welcoming everyone to dine at this inviting spot. A wood-burning oven produces tasty pizzas that will have diners stuffing themselves. Go slow, though, and save room for dessert; there are some treats to be had of the sweet variety as well. Featuring a patio where guests can enjoy their food in a refreshing atmosphere, this restaurant does not fail to regale all those who venture in with a carefully curated menu decked with all the classic Italian delicacies which will have them coming back for more!

Gusto Restaurante

"Truly Italian!"

What began as a small innocuous restaurant in 2006, has grown to become one of the best places in Barcelona serving authentic Italian cuisine. Gusto Restaurante offers a wide range of pastas, salads, fish and meat preparations that will please the discerning palate. But, none of the items on their menu can beat their pizzas, which remains a specialty of this place. A must-try is their thin crust Neapolitan pizza. An extensive list of red and white wines are available to complement your food. Gusto provides an exclusive menu of delights for groups visiting this place.

Xemei

"A Taste Of Venice"

The brainchild of twin brothers, Max and Stefano Colombo, Xemei which means twins in the Venetian dialect is among the best in town for some fabulous Venetian cuisine. Bringing a slice of their hometown, Venice, this cozy space with a featured fish wallpaper wall and wooden accents along with mismatched furnishing has been delighting diners with their rendition of this cuisine. Authentic and made with love, their dishes are sublime. Mostly laden with seafood specialties, they do have some meat and poultry as well. Set on the foot of Montjuïc and still located in Poble Sec, it may be away from the touristy spots, but it is a hit among discerning diners both locally and internationally. Reservations are highly recommended.
