Cuba

"Have Havana!"

Located in Greenwich Village, this restaurant serves Latin, Spanish and of course, Cuban cuisine. The brick walls and wooden decor give you a rustic, warm feeling that may remind you of Old Havana. Some of the dishes include Chuletas de Puerco, Paella Valenciana and of course, Arroz con Pollo (Chicken & Rice). To add some sabor to your dining experience, the restaurant has an on-site cigar roller in which you may purchase a stogie after your meal. Live music is performed on certain nights and you can rent the restaurant to organize events since there are three private spaces available.

Berimbau Brazilian Kitchen

"Bring On Brazil"

Berimbau, named after a Brazilian percussion instrument, is a tiny restaurant in Greenwich Village. Specializing in Brazilian cuisine, it tops the list of Brazilian restaurants in the city due to the authenticity of the flavors and the fine texture of the food. Start with the Pao de Queijo or cheese bread and follow up with Costelinha de Porco com Feijao Tropeiro (roasted pork ribs with barbecue sauce and white rice). On weekends one can try the full Brazilian Breakfast or Acai na Tigela com Granola (Acai fruit with granola) to have a healthy start to the day. The drinks must not be missed for they are unsurpassed in New York. The Caipirinha, mojito and wines can be relished at leisure in the bar.

Yuca Bar

"Tompkins Square Haunt"

Located across the street from Tompkins Square Park, Yuca Bar is a superb pan-Latin restaurant. The bar offers a happy-hour everyday and it's a great place for a drink after a day hanging out in the park. Take a seat by the window and people watch while you drink handcrafted cocktails, wines or Sangria. If you are here to eat exclusively, the menu features dishes from Brazil, Mexico, Cuba and elsewhere in the Spanish speaking world.

Coppelia

"Cuban Delight"

Coppelia is a 24-hour diner restaurant which specializes in Cuban and South American food. Their all day breakfast menu is a hit with all the late night partiers who visit after their revelry ends to satiate their hunger. The Coppelia omelet and breakfast burrito are some of their famous breakfast dishes, while the rest of their menu consists of more delicious, hearty food. Coppelia has got a soothing atmosphere with live music every Friday and Saturday. They also have a huge bar which has an emphasis on Latin spirits like tequila and mezcal with a few twists. Coppelia will just soothe you with their amazing food and bigheartedness.

Bogota Latin Bistro

"A Fun Place!"

This is one place that has it all. The ambiance is lively, friendly and fun, even on a Monday night. The food here is really good and all at great prices; the must tries being the bacalao empanada, chicken empanada and the white arepa. The staff here is extremely warm and helpful. Do try the cocktails and enjoy the happy hours. A cool place to be at. Call ahead or check out their website for more details.

Churrascaria Plataforma

"Paradies für Fleischesser"

Churrascaria Plataforma ist ein riesiges, aber einfach eingerichtetes brasilianisches Restaurant und ein Paradies für Fleischliebhaber. Die spektakulären Gerichte werden in einem Ritual serviert, das als Pampas bezeichnet wird. Am Anfang des Essens steht der Gang an das riesige Salatbuffett, obwohl sich die Gäste dafür wohl weniger interessieren. Und dann geht es richtig los: Die Ober marschieren mit allen möglichen Fleischspießen auf (Huhn, Schwein, Lamm, Ziege), und die Gäste lassen sich so viel sie möchten auf den Teller geben. Die Desserts und Beilagen sind ebenfalls ausgezeichnet, aber auch dafür scheint sich niemand so recht zu interessieren. Das Ganze gibt es zum fantastischen Festpreis von USD 29 (EUR 32,80).

Guantanamera Restaurant

"Cuban Delicacies"

Although the interiors display understated elegance with candle-lit dinner tables, linens and paintings, the ambiance is energetic with loud live music and a crowded bar. The 85-seater restaurant serves traditional Cuban cuisine as well as other Latin specialties. The bar with its collection of assorted wines and liquors is one of the main attractions. Tuesdays are Bolero nights and till Sunday live acts are performed. A great place to visit for your next date night. Offerings are well-worth the money spent.

Pio Pio 3

"Peruvian Pleasures"

Pio Pio (chicken chicken!) specializes in earthy, rustic Peruvian food, served in a setting that manages to be chic and down-to-earth. The ceviche is tangy and fresh, as are the salads - but people mainly come here for the chicken, which is especially flavorful. Be sure to check out the cocktail list - Pio Pio serves a mean pisco sour.
