Stoddard's Fine Food & Ale

"American Gastropub"

Stoddard's Fine Food & Ale is one of the neighborhood favorite bars and lounges situated in an old historic building that survived the fire in 1872. The decor of the place is rustic with some garments on display, depicting the former corset store located here. This traditional American gastropub has over 75 beer selections, along with other spirits and mixes on offer. Chef Mark Cina has put together a though-out menu which features classics like beef tataré, chicken wings and more. Call ahead to check for more information.

Beer Works

"Microbrewed Beer and Good Food"

Its location across from Fenway Park makes this spacious microbrewery a favorite when the Red Sox are in season, and it remains popular year-round. Fun and loud, Beer Works is a great place to sample some brews. Dark-beer lovers may enjoy a pint of Muddy River Porter or Buck Eye Oatmeal Stout. Lighter brews include Allston Mild and Blueberry Ale (with real berries floating in the glass). Menu items range from the bizarre (fried pickles) to the tried-and-true (French fries). There is another Boston location at 112 Canal Street.

Deep Ellum

"Boston's Best Beers"

Named after a section of Dallas famous for its energy, music, and entertainment, the Deep Ellum's goal is to provide guests affordable American comfort food and rare draft beer. The bartenders try to treat customers like friends, mixing with newcomers and locals while sliding beers down the bar. Apart from beer, the beverage menu also includes cocktails, whiskey and wine. Reservations are not accepted.

Public House

"Public Beer House"

Public House has a large selection of beers. With 20 beer taps, microbrews and imported ales it is a veritable beer heaven. Young people frequent this place for after work drinks and for the singles scene. The food is eclectic and tasty especially after the long wait for a table. The menu is inspired by German and Belgian pubs and has the ambiance and decor to go with it.
