St. Mary's Basilica

"Oldest Catholic Church in the Valley"

Officially called the Church of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, it is more commonly known as St. Mary's Basilica or simply St. Mary's. Located in downtown Phoenix, the splendid architecture is a mix of Mission Revival, Spanish Revival and Roman designs. Moreover it is known for its opulent stained glass, the largest in Arizona, while the religious carvings and statues inside add to its beauty. St. Mary's was elevated to being a minor basilica in 1987 by Pope John Paul II and is the only one of its kind in Phoenix. This striking church conducts daily mass for the faithful and tours of its healing garden and the monument itself for visitors.

Arizona Buddhist Temple

"Oldest Buddhist Temple in Arizona"

Arizona Buddhist Temple carries the distinction of being the oldest Buddhist temple in the state. Built in the 1930s, it was closed for a time during World War II, then ravaged by fire and rebuilt in 1961. Affiliated with the Buddhist Churches of America and Nishi Hongwanji in Kyoto, Japan, the temple is open to all people to hear the Dharma together as one family. This is in accordance with the teachings of the Buddha and Shinran Shonin. Educational programs include teachings of Buddhism for Pre-K through high school, as well as adults. Credit cards are not accepted.

First Christian Church

"Designed By Frank Lloyd Wright in 1950"

This church, designed by Frank Lloyd Wright in 1950, is an impressive building that was primarily constructed from stone. Built during 1971-1977, after Wright's death, this structure is a remarkable example of texture and materials — a trademark of Mr. Wright. The church has a double triangle shape and the 77 foot (23.5 meters) tall spire looks like a triangle from any angle. Step inside the lobby you'll find the cornerstone with Wright's signature to prove this building was a Frank Lloyd Wright design.
