Raffles City Shopping Centre

"Shopping Complex & Architectural Masterpiece"

World class architect I M Pei made a masterpiece of the grayish metallic Raffles City Shopping Complex, which offers four levels of shopping extravaganza underneath. The popular department store, Robinsons, extends over three levels and is responsible for drawing the crowds here. Elsewhere, numerous specialty shops offer watches, jewelery, electronics, optical goods and clothing at moderate prices. Famous brands like Ashworth, Claiborne Man, Esprit, Levi's and Marks & Spencer gratify those with a discerning taste in fashion. The basement houses a gourmet supermarket. It also offers the services of a concierge, who tends to the needs and inquiries of shoppers. Coming here is a great way to spend a day in Singapore.

Tiffany & Co.

"Style for All"

Tiffany's has been synonymous with style for more than 160 years. Pick the perfect gift to suit any occasion. Watches are made in Switzerland and come in stainless steel featuring quartz movement. There are also money clips, tie bars and cuff links in 18k gold. Classy ballpoint pens, lovely crystal vases and photo frames made of sterling silver are some of the other items. Miniature frames cost a bit much but are worth the quality. Tiffany wedding bands are eternally brilliant and timeless.

Ngee Ann City

"Shoppers' Paradise"

This shopping mall with the reddish-brown polished granite façade is one of Southeast Asia's largest, housing the giant Japanese chain store, Takashimaya, and Asia's largest book store, Books Kinokuniya. Seven floors accommodate about 130 specialty stores retailing sporting goods, stationery, jewelry and designer clothes. Burberry, Louis Vuitton, Tiffany, Chanel, and Charles Jourdan are just some of the boutiques serving the more well-to-do shoppers. Top-notch restaurants of international flavors dominate on level four, while in the basement, Harrod's tea room and other food outlets present an eating experience of another kind.
