Jimmy's Coffee

"Best Coffee in Toronto"

One thing that this coffee-house is clearly extremely proud of is its hospitality & customer service; with good reason, too. It regularly features in local magazines' lists of the best coffee joints in Toronto. The varied coffees on the menu are accompanied by an assortment of baked goods & sandwiches, made from fresh produce and approved even by lovers of all things organic. Jimmy's Coffee also aims to give a boost to the local art-scene by exhibiting works by local artists on its walls.

Reunion Island Coffee

"Top-notch Roasters"

With bright, airy, welcoming interiors and the refreshing aroma of freshly brewed coffee instantly hitting your senses as soon as you enter, Reunion Island Coffee is every bit your quintessential coffee shop. What sets it apart is its use of single-origin beans in its brews, and a brewing process that retains the nuances of the coffee's original flavor. Hand over your coffee needs to expert baristas, and watch them work deftly behind their compact Modbar espresso machines. This roastery offers reasonably-priced coffees, coupled with a smattering of baked goodies sourced from local bakeshops like Bunner's and La Bamboche.

T-Buds

"Afternoon Tea Venue"

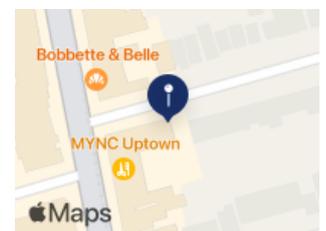

No one does afternoon teas like T-Buds on the Yonge Street. A gem of Bedford Park, this charming tea-room is the place to go when you want dainty, afternoon teas with a bunch of friends. The place offers a wide variety of loose teas from all over the world and palatable munchies to go with your choice of beverages. You can choose from pre-set menus like the English Tea or American Brunch. Although the teas in themselves are exquisite, the finger foods are insanely delicious too! Also on offer are a range of sweet as well as savory crepes with distinct, innovative toppings. Try the Arabic Bazaar or The Moghul, they come highly recommended. The staff is attentive, extremely child-friendly and the place, on the whole is definitely worth a visit, whether you're with friends or family.
