Gran Hotel Ciudad de México

"Striking Art Nouveau-Style Hotel"

This turn-of-the-century hotel, decorated in the Art Nouveau style, shows off a spectacular lobby. Look up as you walk into the hotel and you will see a gorgeous stained-glass dome. Walk past caged birds (you can't miss them with the noise they make) and then an old-fashioned lift will take you to your room. All in all, it's quite an entrance. This was one of the most luxurious hotels when it was built at the beginning of last century, and it is highly recommended for special celebrations such as Independence day or New Year's Eve because of its excellent location. The hotel has two high quality restaurants.

Hotel Paraíso Radisson México

"Close Proximity to"

One of the most modern hotels in the southern part of the city, the hotel is located near the Centro Comercial Perisur, a well known, large shopping centre. It has large carpeted rooms, with air conditioning, background music, satellite TV, bathroom (with bath), hairdryer, minibar and room service. It also offers its guests a restaurant, bar, laundry and dry cleaning services, a tobacconist, spa, gym, car park, valet parking and safe deposits, and this is just barely scratching the surface of the services they provide. A true delight for both the business class and regular customers, the steep prices are justified by the excellent amenities.
