Four Seasons Hôtel des Bergues Geneva

"Historically Significant Luxury Hotel"

The Four Seasons Hôtel des Bergues first opened its doors in 1834. It overlooks the Île Rousseau and the beautiful Jet d'eau. The rooms have retained a classic belle époque charm despite numerous renovations. There are two restaurants and a bar; the Il Lago conjures up fine Italian cuisine while the more casual Izumi serves traditional Japanese fares with a contemporary twist. In summer, you'll appreciate the lovely terrace. This hotel has hosted great names such as Jean Cocteau, Edith Piaf and Sophia Loren.
