Che's Lounge

"Divey Lounge"

If you're looking to relax in a comfy atmosphere after a busy day of downtown sightseeing or shopping and dining on Fourth Avenue, make sure to visit Che's Lounge. The selection of beers, both domestic and imported, is excellent, including Guinness and Bass from the tap. The wine list is quite extensive, featuring a good sampling of Chilean wines as well as Chardonnays and Merlots from California and France, and a glass of house wine is offered at a very reasonable price. Live musical entertainment featuring local bands is provided every Friday and Saturday nights and there's never a cover charge.

Good Oak Bar

"Delightful Drinks, Fantastic Food"

The Good Oak Bar is a great spot to stay put with your gang till midnight. Illuminated with quaint yellow lights, surrounded by exposed-brick walls and furnished with comfy booths, the atmosphere is perfect for the line-up of drinks that follows. Beer lovers have several local varieties to sample and the place also serves wines. In addition, the bartenders are known to craft memorable beer presses along with classic concoctions like sangrias. While the drinks quench your thirst, burgers, tamales, meatloafs and fried pickles are available to satiate your appetite. The prices are moderate, and service as well as the ambiance makes the Good Oak Bar worthy of every dollar spent.

The Shelter Cocktail Lounge

"Famous for Martinis"

Voted Best Cocktail Bar in the local media, The Shelter Cocktail Lounge has done everything to maintain its status as the first choice for martini drinkers in Tucson. Its beer bar serves nine different brands of microbrews, including Tucson's own Nimbus Brewery. If you are looking for mass-produced brews like Buds and Schlitz here, you better look elsewhere. It is famous for its kitsch decor dedicated to the celebrities of the 1960s. All in all, this is a great place to grab a drink and strike up a conversation.

Tough Luck Club

"Hidden Cocktail Lounge"

Tucked away inside a former morgue (yes, morgue!), the Tough Luck Club seems to have found a way to uplift the spirits of its patrons - no pun intended! This lounge serves craft cocktails in its erstwhile morbid surroundings, and is accessible through the beer garden of Reilly's Craft Pizza & Drink. Besides cocktails, they also serve a single beer - the Coors. The interiors are mostly spartan, with a few booths lined against the wall and overhead wooden rafters adorning the ceiling. The dim ambiance is illuminated by a few hanging lights.
