Old Court Bed & Breakfast

"B&B in College Hill"

This is a well-appointed Colonial-style bed and breakfast located in the old Providence courthouse on Mansion Row. Antique furniture, shimmering chandeliers and 19th-century touches make this a very opulent place. Its location is magnificent, where Benefit Street appears as if it was still 1765. The Rhode Island School of Design buildings, including the museum are very close by, and Brown University is just up the hill. The inn is close to good restaurants and across the street is a majestic view of the State House.

Christopher Dodge House

"Providence Inn Downtown"

The Christopher Dodge House is a historic Italianate mansion that has been converted into one of the city's best B&B's. Its location on Holden Street is in a residential neighborhood, but it's still close enough to downtown to make it convenient. The room rates differ from standard, superior and prime. The standard offers comfortable amenities, while the some superior and prime rooms have fireplaces and kitchenettes. The B&B also has superb packages; the 'Romantic' and 'Taste of Providence' are two of their best, both offer restaurant gift cards, chocolates and great accommodations.

Edgewood Manor Bed & Breakfast

"Narragansett Manor"

This Greek-Revival mansion is located a few miles south of downtown Providence and it provides luxurious guestrooms for those seeking accommodations outside of town. The rooms have two-person Jacuzzi tubs, cable TV and all are decorated with a Victorian flair. Here guests will find stained-glass windows, fireplaces throughout, as well as period antiques and art that adorn this restored romantic 15-room retreat on the edge of the city. Edgewood Manor of course serves a gourmet breakfast each day and afternoon tea. Overall, a nice place to stay when you want seclusion from Providence.
