Falafel's Drive In

"A Taste of the Middle East"

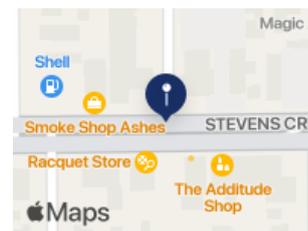

This original Bay Area Middle Eastern joint looks like a beat-up drive-in, but it is one of San Jose's most enduring restaurants. Since the 1960s, their falafels and gyros have been some of the best anywhere. People from all over the world have visited this place, and many have been loyal customers since its conception. The items on the menu are delicious, inexpensive, and easy, so it's perfect for great food on the go. The menu includes Falafel Salad, Gyros in a Pita, Kifta Kabab Salad, Hummos, Tabbouleh and Chicken Sandwich.

Yas Restaurant

"Feast Fit For a Sultan!"

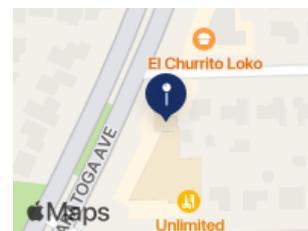

Yas on the Saratoga Avenue in West San Jose is a respite for fans of Middle-Eastern cuisine. Offering delicious, aromatic Persian preparations which include a range of kabobs, polos and curries, this charming restaurant is quite the local hit. Fresh, local ingredients blend well with authentic Persian and Irani recipes and exotic spices at Yas Restaurant to result into scrumptious offerings like baghali polo, the beef, fish and chicken combo platter and chelo kabob to name a few. There are many vegetarian dishes also on offer as well, the ghaymeh and kashk-odademjan are delightful. Finish these wondrous meals with one of their desserts; the bastani and faloodeh come highly recommended.
