Neon Sign Museum

"Peek Into the World of Signage"

The first of its kind in Canada, Neon Sign Museum is an ode to the city's signage industry. An initiative of the City of Edmonton and Alberta Sign Association, this open-air museum showcases 20 glowing signs of commercial establishments that were an important part of the city's past. These include restored antique neon signs of the Canadian Furniture, Northern Alberta Railways, Canadian National Railways, Mike's News and W. W. Arcade. Drop by and admire these luminous signs, which offer an insight into the town's commercial past.

Telephone Historical Centre

"Museum Dedicated to the Telephone"

The telephone is an instrument that is taken for granted today, but 100 years ago it was cutting edge technology. Telephone Historical Centre's collection of telephones dates back to 1885; it is the only one of its kind in Canada. In fact, if you need spare parts or repairs for your antique telephone, you may find what you need here. School and children's programs are regular features, and emphasize a hands-on approach. Admission is by donation, while, for groups it is USD2.

Emily Murphy Park

"Winter Fun At The Park"

The Emily Murphy Park is known for its proximity to the North Saskatchewan River and its scenic beauty, but perhaps is the best-kept secret in the city for winter sports. Part of the enchanting River Valley, this beautiful park transforms into a winter wonderland, with snow-covered hillocks and plenty of space to go kick-sledding and tobogganing with family. During summer, the park throws open several trails that are used for biking or strolling. There is also a picnic site, a small boat launch system, and a children's playground built into the premises of the park.

Al Rashid Mosque

"House of Prayers"

One of the foremost mosques in the nation, the Al-Rashid Mosque has been serving the region since the late 1930s. Since its completion in 1938, the mosque has been moved twice to make room for expansion. At the time of its completion, it was the country's only mosque. Apart from daily prayer sessions and Quran recitals, the mosque also offers weekly religious studies classes, and lends its support to a preschool program and various charitable services.

Canadian Energy Museum

"Local Oil Industry History"

This museum showcases the history of the crude oil generation in Alberta and tells the story of those who worked hard in the Black Gold business. Visitors can take a self-guided excursion through the museum to view exhibits that include a range of photographs and artifacts. For those who would like a more in depth, experience, guided tours are also available. Housed on the actual Leduc-Woodbend Oilfield which was the major source of crude oil in the early 20th-Century, this site was designated a National Historic Site in 1990.
