Rappahannock

"Farm-to-Table Dining"

Come to Rappahannock for a trendy and delicious farm-to-table dining experience in Richmond. Known for their oysters, be prepared to have your taste buds blown away by the following Virginia-exclusive oysters: The Rappahannock River oysters, with their sweet, buttery and lightly salted taste; the Stingray oysters and their signature briny and clean flavor; and the ocean-salty and deliciously mineral-rich Olde Salts oysters. The decor is sleek and upscale, with an enormous raw and drinks bar to boot. Enjoy various seafood dishes accompanied by beers on tap with friends and coworkers.

Edo's Squid

"Italian & Seafood Paradise"

Edo's squid offers affordable Italian food and a lively atmosphere in Richmond. They specialize in the pastas and seafood, so don't skip out on the mixed seafood pasta - the noodles are cooked to perfection and the shrimps are plump and juicy. The house spaghetti and sausages, with mushrooms, green peppers and tomatoes, is also a favorite among the locals. The most important dish, however, is probably the squid with arugula appetizer that should be ordered before every meal. All the food is seasoned just right and the portions are huge. Bring your friends and family to this lively restaurant and they will leave not only happy, but full.

The Roosevelt

"Taste of the South"

The Roosevelt, located in Richmond, is a restaurant that celebrates the food from the South in all of its delicious glory. Breakfast, dinner, brunch and drinks are available to guests in addition to an early bird menu from Tuesday to Fridays. Braised pork shoulders with a side of cheese grits and catfish with creamed farro are definite favorites. One of the best parts about the restaurant is that they serve local wine and beer. Musky and woody, the interior of the restaurant gives off an old-timey, classy feel.
