Exchange District

"Relive Winnipeg's Past"

Nestled in the bustling downtown area of the Winnipeg city, the Exchange District is a historic landmark. Declared as a National Historic Site of Canada, it is certainly worth a visit. This area is touted to be the hub of cultural and entertainment activities; it houses an assortment of drinking and dining outlets and retail shops; important venues include Royal Manitoba Theatre Centre and Centennial Concert Hall. Popular festivals like Jazz Winnipeg Festival, the Winnipeg Fringe Theatre Festival, and the Manitoba Electronic Music Exhibition are annually held here. Corydon

"Haven for Shoppers & Food Lovers"

Corydon is based around Corydon Avenue, sandwiched between the meandering Red and Assiniboine Rivers. It has emerged as one of the city's main shopping and dining districts, although it does not have the flamboyance of neighboring Osborne Village. Home decor, women's fashions, jewelry, antiques or vintage apparel, name it and you will find it here. Corydon is also known for trendy hair and nail salons, art galleries, craft stores and gourmet food shops. Corydon Avenue was once called Little Italy and it lives up to the promise with numerous espresso bars and gettao parlors. Gastronomes will delight in the restaurants serving cuisines ranging from East Asian to French and American. The main attraction of this neighborhood is Colours of Corydon, a series of eight outdoor metal sculptures, each representing a European country.

Academy Road

"Many Shops and Stops"

Located in River Heights, the residential district of Winnipeg, the Academy Road stretches between Wellington Crescent and Maryland Bridge. Although a part of the road was called Godfrey Avenue, the entire length of the road was renamed in the 1930s. The street takes its name from St. Mary's Academy which lies towards the Maryland Bridge. Besides, this landmark is a shoppers' paradise and houses several stores catering from fashion and beauty needs to home decor. After an exhaustive shopping spree, you can devour a delicious meal at any of the restaurants that dot the street.
