

"Best Landmarks in Fort Lauderdale"

Created by: Cityseeker

📍 3 Locations Bookmarked

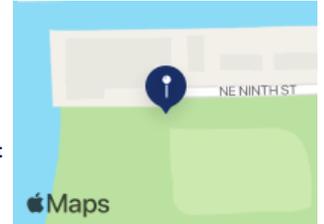

📷 by Marine 69-71 ©

Bonnet House Museum & Gardens

"Historic Home of Frederic Bartlett"

A 1920s construction, this historic two-story, 35.4-acre (14.32-hectare) waterfront house was once the winter home of artist Frederic Clay Bartlett and his wife, Evelyn. The Bonnet House is serenely elegant and preserved amidst the urban expansion of Fort Lauderdale Beach, making the land all the more special. Mrs. Bartlett, who died in 1997, gave the estate to the Florida Trust for Historic Preservation in 1983 to keep the property unchanged. Several concerts and events are held here throughout the year, and the house is available for private events such as weddings. Named after a waterlily, that once inhabited the property, the Bonnet House is open year-round for guided tours.

☎ +1 954 563 5393

🌐 www.bonnethouse.org/

✉ Marketing@BonnetHouse.Org

📍 900 North Birch Road, Fort Lauderdale FL

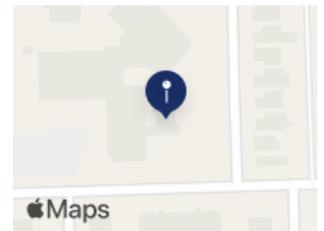

📷 by Jrozwado ©

Old Dillard Museum

"Home of African Heritage"

Highlighting culture and education, this museum was built in 1924 and originally served as the first school in Fort Lauderdale for African Americans. Now restored as a community historic landmark, The Old Dillard Museum houses an impressive array of artifacts, artworks, jewelry, and tribal masks belonging to the fascinating African heritage. A superb place to gain insight into African American heritage, the museum also inspires contemplation in its visitors. Apart from doing a stellar job of preserving centuries-old culture, the museum also offers a glimpse of the stirring history of the region. The Old Dillard Museum also boasts a full calendar packed with various activities, including lectures, workshops, and classes.

☎ +1 754 322 8828

🌐 www.browardschools.com/Page/35769

📍 1019 Northwest 4th Street, Fort Lauderdale FL

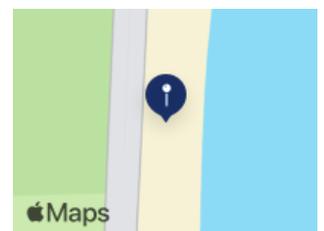

📷 by Daniel+Dudek ©

Fort Lauderdale Beach

"Soak Up the Sun"

Sitting surrounded by hotels, shops, restaurants, and residential areas, Fort Lauderdale Beach unfolds a vast expanse of amber-hued sand shores. Apart from sunbathing, tanning, and swimming, the beach is also known for hosting various open-air events, cultural festivals, and boat shows. The sunny beach has seen tourists from all over the world flock here to enjoy the smooth blue waters of the Atlantic Ocean. If you are in the mood for some cocktails, lounging under umbrellas, shopping, and acquiring a beautiful tan, you won't find a better place to be than the famous Fort Lauderdale Beach.

☎ +1 954 828 7275 (City Park Council)

🌐 www.parks.fortlauderdale.gov/Home/Components/FacilityDirectory/FacilityDirectory/20/1197

✉ parksinfo@fortlauderdale.gov

📍 Florida State Road A1A, Fort Lauderdale FL

JOIN US AT:
cityseeker.com

