Warehouse Restaurant & Gallery

"Cozy & Continental"

Dress up or down for dining in this smart, casual restaurant located in an old renovated warehouse. The noise level can get a bit high at peak times, but it still enjoys a great deal of popularity with the business class. Maybe the menu is simply too appealing to pass up. The menu is pricey, but creative entrees like white bean and mushroom gnocchi or wild boar Osso Buco are worth the expense. Ask for a nice bottle of the California house wine, or opt for several more exotic selections.

Front Range Barbeque

"Just Like Home"

There is no mistaking this pearl of a restaurant as being a chain. Located in a residential house, you almost wonder if you must knock before entering. The interior is tiny and is divided into three separate rooms. The small bar with one small TV looks like the kind of thing you would find in a fraternity house's basement. Yet, it drips with refreshing character. The menu, as expected, features barbecue ribs as well as other tasty dishes such as catfish and red beans and rice.

Walter's Bistro

"Happy Meals by the Hearth"

The interior of Walter's is very much like a country house. A cozy fireplace with warm lighting and intimate tables are just some of the features you can look forward to. The menu features wholesome dishes such as blackened Colorado trout and pan-roasted half chicken. There is also an extensive wine list. Private dining rooms are available for parties and social gatherings.
