Dona Paula Beach

"Quite Serene Beach"

Located just off the Dona Paula Promenade, the Dona Paula Beach lies along the scenic coastline of Goa. The beach is where the Mandovi River meets the Arabian Sea. With one side covered in rocks and the other covered in grainy golden sand, this beach has boats and speed boats all around its shores, and sparkling crystal clear waters. Boating rides which are fun for the kids and the entire family are held here during the holiday season between November to March. Along the beach shore is the Statue of Dona Paula which is a noteworthy landmark and sightseeing monument.

Cavelossim Beach

"Peaceful Beach With Clean Sand"

Cavelossim Beach in South Goa is an excellent place to destress and offers a peaceful environment away from other crowded beaches. This white sand beach abounds with numerous shells and the rocks by the waterfront are made from black lava. Numerous shacks are spread out by the water and offer a wide range of fresh seafood. Sunbeds of the shacks can be used to laze around and soak in the tranquil surroundings.

Calangute Beach

"Queen Of The Beaches"

Set against the backdrop of the deep blue Arabian Sea, Calangute Beach is an evergreen favorite with tourists and locals alike. Nicknamed the 'Queen Of The Beaches', this beach was once a haven for the flower children of the 1960's. However, as time passed, an aggressive brand of tourism took over, and today it has been invaded by throngs of local tourists who come here for a dip in the sea, to play football, stroll along the sands or to enjoy the warm home-cooked meals at the many restaurants along the shores of Calangute. A number of accommodations varying from very expensive to moderate lie in and around the area. Attractions like the St. Alex Church are located very close to the beach.
