Marshall Park

"Calm Oasis"

Located in the center of the city, Marshall Park provides a peaceful reprieve from the hustle and bustle of city life. Lush green stretches are interspersed by a few man made structures and a pristine lake. The park is a great place to click a few photos since it gets an unobstructed view of the entire city skyline. Some well-known structures which can be found here include the Holocaust Monument and the towering stature of Martin Luther King.

McGill Rose Garden

"Not just about roses"

Affiliated with some of the top organizations in the country, this garden offers educational and vocational programs to the neighborhood residents. With this, it aims at educating the people of all age groups about the importance of greenery in our surroundings. Several schools send their students to participate in these workshops. For those who have a keen interest in this field, there are internship programs offered in collaboration with the Central Piedmont Community College. And for those who are looking for a hands-on lesson on roses, enroll for the course that takes place each February. For membership and further information, check the website.

Urbana Cityspa & Teabar

"A Spa for City-Dwellers"

Some spas choose to take a hippy approach, emphasizing that their products and treatments are certifiably "of the earth." Urbana Cityspa & Teabar takes a different approach, recognizing that not every spa-goer is a tree-hugger. Not to say that any of the treatments at Urbana are unnatural, but the atmosphere achieves a skilled balance of city elements and relaxation to create a unique space for city-dwellers seeking serious relaxation.
