The Huddle

"Hip & Grungy Local Dive"

The Huddle draws in Costa Mesa's young, hip and grungy set with cheap pitchers, a sizable amount of pool tables, arcade games, dart boards and more. The decor is nothing ornate, wood paneled walls and branded pennants is as dressed up as it gets. A small number of booths, tables and high counters are scattered on one end of the bar, making room for eight pool tables that maintain a sizable line throughout the evening. A small outdoor smoking patio may be the most densely populated area of The Huddle, a consistent crowd flowing in and out of the tiny backroom space. Cheap drinks, typical dive bar service and a high energy atmosphere are just part of why The Huddle is a local favorite night after night.

Class of '47

"Casual Bar"

Class of '47 is a locally-owned dive bar that serves very cheap and very basic drinks. If you're looking for fancy cocktails and martinis, this is not the place for you. Here you can grab a drink every night of the week in a casual setting that takes pride in the fact that, despite what its name might suggest, this joint has "no class."

Mutt Lynch's

"Great for a Date"

With a breathtaking sunset view of Catalina Island, this popular neighborhood bar and restaurant is a natural choice for romantic dates. The menu includes pizza, burgers and sandwiches, and it serves beer and wine. Prices are moderate and the food is fantastic. The best part about it is the picnic tables - lovers over the years have carved their names on the tabletops and you are encouraged to do the same.

Sandpiper Lounge

"Nightly Fun"

The Sandpiper Lounge is a late-night spot that has been a local favorite in Laguna Beach since the 1940s. Also known as "The Dirty Bird," this dive bar tends to get crowded and crazy with the live musicians that keep everyone going late into the night. With drinks starting at $5 and their "4 second pours," you will get what you came for. The lounge is a great hangout where you will hear good music and see beautiful, tanned people 365 days a year, literally.
