Williamsburg Inn

"Come on Inn!"

The word "inn" might bring images of a nondescript little abode to mind, but this one is a far cry from that! The pride of the Colonial Williamsburg Hotels, this one is arguably one of the world's best small hotels. The 91 rooms exude a sense of opulence, with their stunning décor and lavish amenities. An efficient concierge service is always on-hand to attend to your needs, as you luxuriate in the outdoor pool, partake of a gourmet meal or work up a sweat at the fitness center. A decadent spa eases those tired muscles, while an excellent afternoon tea by a cheery fire adds a touch of high class to the place. Lawn bowling, croquet and golf complete the package, making the inn not just a stopover, but a grand holiday destination.

Wyndham Kingsgate Resort

"Wonderful Williamsburg"

Wyndham Kingsgate Resort offers an unbeatable location at budget-friendly prices. While you might come to the area to explore historic Williamsburg - which is less than a mile away - you may just end up staying for the two pools, hot tub, mini golf, and movie theater than are all located on the resort grounds. Of course, the main reason to come to Williamsburg is to experience the colonial history of the place. With historic battlefields nearby, a wide variety of restaurants to sample, and the charming Merchants Square to explore, you are sure to be busy on your trip to this quaint city.

Wedmore Place

"Wine and Dine at Wedmore"

Opened in 1983, Wedmore Inn sits on land that has quite the history. The land was first tilled as a farm in 1615, and was noted to be a hot bed of revolutionary talk during the United States' war with Great Britain. It was not until 1985, however, that the first grapes were planted on the land. The hotel and winery sit nestled in 300 acres of beautiful Virginia land. This European-style country hotel boasts 28 stunning rooms, all of which come with a delicious continental breakfast that is served in the Buttery each morning. Guests are treated to a complimentary tour and wine tasting at the Williamsburg Winery, and are welcome to wander around the estate's gorgeous acreage. Also on site are a pool, spa, and the Cafe Provencal, which serves up masterful French cuisine.
