

"Best Museums in Columbus"

Created by: Cityseeker

📍 7 Locations Bookmarked

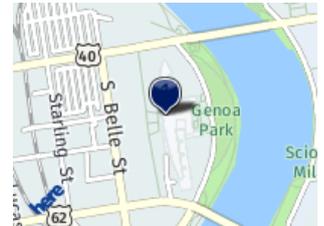

📷 by Sixflashphoto ©

Center of Science and Industry (COSI)

"Discovering Science"

Perched on the western bank of the river and across from downtown, the hulking COSI building is jam-packed with thrilling explorations of the world of science. Entertaining movies, hands-on workshops and interactive exhibits all aim to encourage the young (and young at heart) to discover new and exciting things about the natural world around them. Family-themed events and overnight adventures are scheduled here throughout the year.

📞 +1 614 228 2674

🌐 www.cosi.org

✉ call_center@mail.cosi.org

📍 333 West Broad Street, Columbus OH

📷 by Nyttend ©

Central Ohio Fire Museum

"A Firefighting Museum"

Located in a restored early 20th-century engine house, Central Ohio Fire Museum is indeed a fun and educational place to be. Featuring old fire trucks, wagons, alarms, paraphernalia and more it gives a glimpse of a fire station from 1908 to 1982. Find out how the advancement in technology improved the safety measures and find out more about it for precaution. The museum is also known for its resident ghosts but they are not at all a cause to worry.

📞 +1 614 464 4099

🌐 www.centralohiofiremuseum.com/

✉ cofmuseum@aol.com

📍 260 North 4th Street, Columbus OH

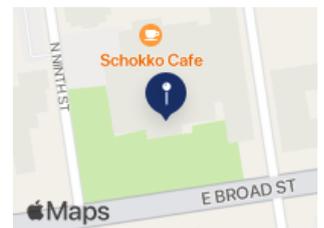

📷 by Indrian ©

The Columbus Museum of Art

"Dutch Masters, Cubists and More!"

The Columbus Museum of Art is a great place to get acquainted with the works of artists such as Renoir and Picasso. If intricate observations on Cubism, Picasso and the like go right over your head, helpful docents come to the rescue. Sit back and enjoy a cup of piping hot tea at the museum cafe, while surrounded by paintings by some of the world's greatest artists. Public tours are held regularly. Become a member and avail yourself of free admission and parking.

📞 +1 614 221 6801

🌐 www.columbusmuseum.org/

✉ info@cmaohio.org

📍 480 East Broad Street, Columbus OH

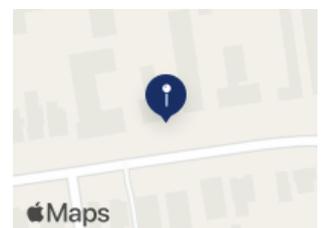

📷 by Jamie Coupaud on Unsplash ©

Kelton House Museum & Garden

"History Comes Alive"

Historic Kelton House is an actual physical relic of a bygone era, restored to its original grandeur and open to all. The Kelton Family were Columbus society at its finest, and as such, they amassed an immaculate collection of period furniture and other items and cataloged via scrapbook and diary the details of daily life in the 1800s.

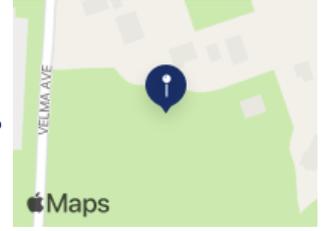

by Sam Howzit

Ohio History Center

"Discovering Columbus"

Maintained by the Ohio Historical Society, the Ohio History Center aims to celebrate the history of the city. From archaeology and natural history to political and cultural artifacts, this museum has it all. So, if you're in the mood to go back into the past of the city, this is the right place to be. The center also houses a resourceful library, Ohio Village and serves as a host to numerous event venues.

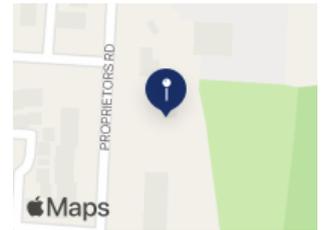

by Pi.1415926535

Ohio Railway Museum

"An Old Railway Museum"

The Ohio Railway Museum was founded in 1945 and is among the oldest of its kind in the nation. It was originally called The Central Ohio Railfans Association and got its current name in 1993. Enjoy a round-trip ride on a streetcar or interurban. Get educated in the demonstration tour about the history of steam and electric locomotive and how it impacted the economic growth and lifestyle in the early 20th Century. The museum is into preserving and operating historic railway machinery. It aims to enlighten the public through their exhibits, publications and special events. Their collection includes trams from 1900 to 1949, interurbans (1905 to 1965), passenger cars, electric and steam engines from around 1910 through 1926.

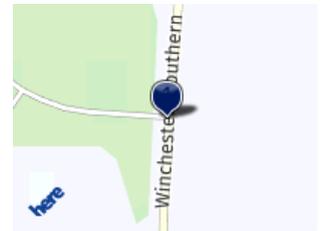

by Aryeh Alex

Slate Run Living Historical Farm

"Frozen In The 1800s"

Find out what farm-life was in Ohio more than a century ago at Slate Run Living Historical Farm. It features a restored Gothic-Revival farmhouse dating back to 1856 and the barn that was revived by Amish carpenters. Stroll through the house, barns and gardens to see the costumed staff giving live demonstrations including farming with draft horses and working in the house. Be a part of the activities that change according to the season. Animals like the Merino sheep and Poland China hog will keep the kids entertained.

JOIN US AT:

cityseeker.com