Lucchese Boot Company

"Classic Designer Shoes"

This boot outfitter has been selling and creating its signature quality footwear for more than a century. Though there are retail outlets around the country, the factory is right here in El Paso, so you have the pick of the litter. The prices can be quite hefty. However, the quality and the exquisite craftsmanship make them worth it. In addition to boots, Lucchese also sells shoes and accessories that accompany them.

Justin Boots Outlet

"Popular Boots"

Justin Boots is just about as popular as that other brand synonymous with country-western wear, Stetson. Though Justin hasn't been around as long as that other venerable cowboy outfitter, these boots have garnered a rabid following not just for their cowboy boots, but also for their work boots. All of your favorite styles and designs can be found here at this outlet and prices are a bit more reasonable than the retail stores due to the fact that some of the boots may be irregular.
