Monument Circle

"Prominent Landmark"

A visit to downtown Indianapolis is incomplete without a stroll down the Monument Circle. This historic landmark encloses the famous Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, which pays homage to the heroes of the American Revolution. This site is also home to a wide range of cultural and local events held by the city. Attend the Marsh Cookout on the Circle, where you can expect good food for a good cause. Call the Visitors Bureau for more details on current and upcoming events.

Regions Bank Tower Indianapolis

"Indiana's Pride"

Popularly known as One Indiana Square, the Regions Bank Tower boasts a stunning glass facade that glimmers in the sunshine as it stands tall even today. At an imposing height of 36 storeys, this building was the Indiana's tallest at the time of its completion in 1970. Its reign as state's tallest building continued for 12 years and was only brought to an end in 1982 when its height was finally surpassed by the OneAmerica Tower. Nevertheless, the Regions Bank Tower continues to draw admiring gaze of onlookers even today, having forever made its mark in history.

Georgia Street

"Hip and Lively"

Navigating across the busy neighborhood of Wholesale District, Georgia Street is a kaleidoscope of some hip restaurants, lively bars and some of the famous tourist attractions of Indianapolis. Counted as one of the most vibrant outdoor spots of the city, it occupies a central location in the Downtown and plays host to a number of cultural events throughout the year. A well-laid out pedestrian sidewalk and a high-tech audio and light system ensure the street renders itself well for open-air meetings, concerts and conventions.

Military Park

"Celebrating War & Peace"

Military Park is Indianapolis' oldest and most storied. In this city of epic monuments and patriotic celebrations, this has been the site of many of the above. Today, it sits on the bank of the Canal and provides a safe haven for students and working folk looking for a shady spot to while away a sunny afternoon. Holding a place in the exalted National Register of Historic Places, this urban park with a bright green cover is a spot worth visiting. So, come here if you are in downtown Indianapolis to enjoy some fun under the sun.
