Le Jardin

"In the Garden"

Translated into French it would mean 'the garden', and sure enough, the cafe Le Jardin actually faces the verdant gardens at The Oberoi. It serves breakfast over a buffet, while the lunch and the dinner are mostly a la carte. One can sip a cup of coffee in the morning and enjoy tranquil views through the tall French windows overlooking the gardens. To break the monotony of the buffet, the chef keeps the theme of the food variant. There is a lot on offer here from Continental to Indian and a different menu surprises delighted guests at regular intervals. Le Jardin also holds a Sunday gourmet lunch that is much loved by its regular clientèle. Keeping in mind that children accompany their parents over the weekend lunches, there are activities like face painting to keep them entertained. The outside space serves as a counter for the live grill on certain occasions. The beauty of the garden and the scrumptious food go down well with a glass of chilled red wine.

Jolly Nabobs-Dumpukht

"Fusion of Flavours"

Situated within the grand ITC Windsor hotel, the Jolly Nabobs-Dumpukht restaurant offers a blend of the British and Awadhi (North Indian) cuisines. These dishes are prepared with great care by the chefs called Khansamahs (native house stewards or butlers in Anglo Indian language). Essentially a fine dining restaurant, this place is best suited for the lovers of haute cuisine. A favorite among patrons here is the kakori kebab prepared with minced mutton and served with slit chillis, fried onions and coriander chutney. So next time you feel the urge to indulge in some pre-independence food, you know exactly where to head.

Jamavar

"Exquisite Indian Cuisine"

The Leela Palace Kempinski houses within its exquisite confines yet another exquisite wonder. The ambiance at Jamavar is as enchanting as its delicately crafted food, with Chef Farman Ali serving the best of North and South Indian cuisines. If you can peel your eyes away from the hand-carved room separators, the landscaped gardens that go softly aglow come evening, and the riveting beauty of the it all, you can enjoy delicacies such as the Malabar Fried Prawn, Meen Varuval or the local Uppu Kari or lamb cooked with spices. Jamavar is located at the lobby level of the hotel such that the veranda spills into the well-manicured garden area, and makes for the perfect fine dining destination for special occasions.
