Chinesischer Turm

"Historic Beer Garden"

The tower which gave its name to the beer garden was built in 1789 as a viewing point and bandstand in the heart of the English Garden. Unfortunately, what we see today is only a reconstruction, as the original was destroyed in 1944. However, the musical connections have remained. There are over 7000 seats at Chinesischer Turm, where customers can relax and enjoy a Mass (a liter of beer). Tradition permits you to bring your own food along, but the food is quite decent and is sure to leave you satisfied.

Tassilogarten

"For Casual Dining"

Only a short walk away from Regerplatz train station, you will come across this quaint restaurant next to Tassiloplatz. Besides the food what draws crowds to Tassilogarten is the setting that elicits a laid-back and carefree ambiance. The lovely backyard garden is interspersed with elegant patio furniture and flowered plants while the interiors carry a simplistic theme accentuated by modern furnishing, each perfect for both casual and special occasions. When it comes to food, the menu has a variety of light options like Bruschetta, Elsässer Flammkuchen and Baked Potatoes. For something filling try the Tassiloburger or Wiener Schnitzel vom Kalb. Local beer and wines are available.

Hirschgarten

"Park and Beer Garden"

Hirschgarten was originally a game enclosure built by the Elector Karl Theodor at the end of the eighteenth century. A small part of the historic enclosure has been preserved and can be seen from the beer garden. With 8,000 seats, the beer garden is the biggest in the city, and is also one of the most pleasant because of its peaceful location and numerous chestnut trees. It was converted from a hunting house to a restaurant in 1970, when the garden was also built.

Asam-Schlössl Maria Einsiedel

"Grandiose aristocratic house"

This was once the home and studio of Cosmas Damian Asam, an important painter of the late baroque period. The facade of the Asamschlößl is a rare example of the sort which was once so widespread in Munich. The painter acquired the estate in 1724, added a studio and started to decorate the facade with his work. At the time, the grounds also included buildings for the workers, a geometrically designed garden and a chapel built by his brother Egid Quirin. The house was rebuilt after the War by Schleich and the paintings on its facade restored. Quality regional cuisine has been served here at reasonable prices since 1993. The dining rooms are traditional and comfortable, comprising the Tirol Room, a lounge with a clay oven and a beautiful garden. Celebrities from the nearby film studios in Geiseltal are regular guests here.
