Pusser's

"One of the City's Best Bars"

Pusser's is a city institution - this New York-style cocktail bar, with its old-fashioned, nostalgic decor and perfectly concocted cocktails is a favorite amongst locals and visitors alike. The drinks' selection here is marvelous. If you come to Pusser's, it's almost imperative that you try the Painkiller, a deliciously tropical combination of pineapple, grated nutmeg, coconut, fresh orange juice, and rum. There is a piano bar in the cellar, the perfect finishing touch to an evening steeped in the past.

Schumann's Bar am Hofgarten + Camparino

"Old-Feel Bar"

At Schumann's, you'll feel like you're in an old-style Vienna bar, from the dark wood interiors to the stern art on the walls. The beer on tap is excellent, as is the cocktail selection, and there's an outdoor seating area with large red umbrellas for people to enjoy on warmer days; the people-watching is delightful. The bar gets lively so if you want a table, so a table reservation is recommended.

Baader Café

"Fine Spot For Sunday Brunch"

A firm fixture in Munich's in-scene since the eighties, Baader is a favorite haunt for writers, artists, lifestyle journalists and nightlife veterans. The decor at Baader Café (big windows, light walls and dark furniture) hasn't changed much since the good old days, but thankfully the music has moved on. The standard drink is beer (unfortunately only Löwenbräu), and tasty, reasonably priced snacks such as toast, pasta and chilli con carne are served. Sunday brunch is a popular favorite. Check website for more.

Ksar Club

"Great Music, Fashionable Crowd"

One of the most popular nightlife spots in town and one of the most progressive in terms of music, with a constant flow of young DJs on the hunt for the latest sounds (house, trance etc.). First and foremost though, this is a bar with great beer and some of the best cocktails in town. Ksar Club is extremely cool and the staff is efficient and friendly. The interior is pleasant enough, even though it is slightly dingy in places. Come early in the weekend if you want a seat.

Negroni

"Style & Class"

The overall decor and ambiance that Negroni models itself after is the typical classic American cocktail bar. Negroni is swanky, chic and always well-stocked. What's more is that although small in space, the bar does provide a menu with fine Italian dishes that varies from week to week. Also something to note, is the terrace is open during the warmer days of the year if you prefer to enjoy your drinks whilst basking underneath the sun.
