Golden Gate Hotel

"In Fine European Style"

A small, charming, and immaculate turn-of-the-century hotel, you will find beautiful antique furnishings throughout the lobby and the guest rooms of Golden Gate Hotel. It is centrally located near Union Square and Chinatown, as well as near the cable car lines to North Beach and Fisherman's Wharf. An antique bird cage-style elevator connects upper floors to the lobby. The staff is multi-lingual, friendly, and knowledgeable. Garage parking and luggage storage facilities are available as well. The free continental breakfast includes the self-proclaimed strongest coffee in the City.

La Luna Inn

"Small Boutique Hotel"

Resembling those motels in movies, the 1960's style La Luna Inn is a stylish hotel right at the center of the happening Marina District. The Golden Gate Bridge and Palace of Fine Arts are walking distance and cable cars are close by, making this a perfect accommodation option for business and leisure travelers. The concierge will help you go around town with restaurant recommendations and ticket arrangements. Modern and minimalist designs add appeal to the comfortable and spacious guest rooms of the affordable La Luna Inn.

Seal Rock Inn

"Walk to the Beach"

This comfortable motor lodge dating from the 1950s is somewhat off the beaten track. Located near the Pacific Ocean at Sutro Park and Lands End, it is a short walk down the hill from the Cliff House with its view of Seal Rock and Ocean Beach. All rooms have refrigerators, cable TV, and private baths. Some have fireplaces, kitchenettes and ocean views. The on-site restaurant is known locally for its fine omelets.
