

"Best Movie Theaters in San Francisco"

Created by: Cityseeker

📍 8 Locations Bookmarked

Roxie Theater

"Cinema Paradiso"

The Roxie, built long before the multiplex era, is one of San Francisco's last independent cinemas. It programs an eccentric repertory schedule that is a cinema goer's dream. It showcases some rarely seen but fabulous films that were quality-made with not a single marketing campaign in sight. It also booked the controversial documentary Kurt & Courtney when no other theater in the country would touch it. The Roxie also host a number of popular film festivals. A registered non-profit since 2009, this lovely piece of SF heritage is well worth seeking out. Check their website for show times, ticketing information, educational programs, membership details, rentals and more.

📞 +1 415 863 1087

🌐 www.roxie.com

✉ info@roxie.com

📍 3117 16th Street, San Francisco CA

AMC Kabuli 8

"Movie Mania"

This cineplex, located right around the corner from the Fillmore, has eight screens for your viewing pleasure. For a more enjoyable experience, check out the bar and bistro or just sit back and relax with popcorn and a soda from the refreshment stand.

📞 +1 415 346 3243

🌐 www.sundancecinemas.com/kabuki_showtimes.html

✉ info@sundancecinemas.com

📍 1881 Post Street at Fillmore, San Francisco CA

AMC Loews Metreon 16

"Movies & More"

AMC Loews Metreon 16 theater boasts 16 large screens with 3D capabilities. The acoustics are magical and movie-viewing is a real pleasure. Grab a bag of freshly popped popcorn and wash it down with a fountain drink from the snack bar before heading into your feature film. There is also an IMAX screen so you can watch films on the extra big screen.

📞 +1 415 369 6201

🌐 www.amctheatres.com/movie-theatres/amc-metreon-16

📍 101 4th Street, San Francisco CA

The Castro Theatre

"Magical Movie Palace"

Built in 1922, The Castro Theatre is San Francisco's only remaining movie palace. When it's not hosting film festivals, this 1400-seat house runs a repertory calendar heavy on film classics; there is no better place to see The Wizard of Oz. The interior reflects the elegance of a bygone era with its red velvet seats and walls that feature molded plaster and fresco detailing. The fanciful ceiling, from which an imposing art deco chandelier hangs, is designed to evoke the interior of a Bedouin tent. A mighty Wurlitzer organ plays between evening shows and completes the antique feel of the theater.

📷 by Benson Kua

Embarcadero Center Cinema

"Taste Of Cinema"

Embarcadero Center Cinema has 5 screens for your viewing pleasure. Revamped in 2013, this movie house is one of the swankiest places in town to catch a hard to find art or indie flick. For a more enjoyable experience, sit back and relax in your reclining chair with an espresso, craft beer or some delicious eats. Parking facilities are also available at the theater.

+1 415 267 4893

www.embarcaderocenter.com/ec/attractions/cinema.html

info@embarcaderocenter.com

1 Embarcadero Center, Promenade Level, San Francisco CA

Presidio Theatre

"Deco in the Marina"

This compact Deco darling in the Marina spent part of its life as an adult theater. Fortunately, it's been rehabilitated (and refurbished) since those days. The imposing facade's sharp geometric lines make for an interesting contrast to the cozy interior of this single-screen, first-run cinema. The neighborhood is perfect for strolling before or after the feature. Assisted listening devices are also available.

by Edward

+1 415 776 2388

www.hkinsf.com/4star/presidio.html

lee.theatres@gmail.com

2340 Chestnut Street, San Francisco CA

4 Star Theater

"Quirky Local Movie House"

4 Star Theater is a quirky little neighborhood theater whose owners book whatever suits their fancy, including the latest films from Asia and first run films that were dropped by the chain theaters or the other art houses. The original single-screen has been divided into three rather cramped theaters, but for procrastinators or aficionados of Asian cinema, it's a find.

by Gary Soup

+1 415 666 3488

www.hkinsf.com/

Clement Street, At 23rd Avenue, San Francisco CA

The Balboa Theater

"Neighborhood Cinema"

The Balboa Theater is a neighborhood theater that's been divided in two. Each theater shows films that are always interesting, whether art films or general releases. It offers gourmet coffee, and the double features are a deal if you want to catch up on classy recent releases. Voted "Best Neighborhood Theater" by the SF Bay Guardian, it is a true San Francisco staple. See website for showtimes, ticket pricing and more.

by Rick Audet

+1 415 221 8184 (Box Office)

www.balboamovies.com/

roger@balboamovies.com

3630 Balboa Street, 37th Avenue, San Francisco CA

JOIN US AT:
cityseeker.com