Le Truskel

"Where People & Music Rock"

Located outside of the usual Paris nightlife beaten paths, the Truskel, with its Celtic symbol at the entrance, has become a popular hangout for those inclined towards rock and pop music. The pub has an authentic British feel and is frequented by an international crowd; all fans of Franz Ferdinand, Blur, The Cure, or Sex Pistols. Live bands often perform from Thursday to Saturday. Definitely a must-see of Paris' live music scene!

Le China

"A Restaurant, Bar & Nightclub"

Le China is an iconic and a multi-purpose venue where one can either go there for their scrumptious Chinese cuisine or their lively bar. It even houses a nightclub with the best DJs in Paris. The dimly-lit wooden furnished lounge like setting is classy and intimate, perfect for enjoying great food and great music. Order one of their delicious cocktails and get ready to dance to the music.

Le Hammam Club

"Sweat it Out"

Le Hammam Club is situated in the heart of Paris and to put all doubts at rest, it's not a sauna or a spa. The music is loud, the drinks are flowing and you have more than your fair share of beauties dressed in harem clothes, belly dancing and gyrating. Le Hammam Club also have their own music compilations. The club claims it is Morocco in the midst of Paris but actually, it's a lot more. Join Le Hammam to groove to the beats of the DJ or live performers.
