Il SanLorenzo

"Night Elegance"

A wonderful dining space reflecting Roman elegance is what one can expect at Il SanLorenzo. The menu which changes seasonally offers a tantalizing range of dishes prepared in the Mediterranean flair. Visit this restaurant to taste executive chef Tommaso Maddalena's tantalizing concoctions. Seafood lovers can gorge on preparations made from fresh catch from the waters. Rebuilt from the remains of the former Pompeo theater, this restaurant lies in the heart of the city and is in close proximity to various tourist attractions.

Maccheroni

"Three Enthusiasts"

A friendly, efficient restaurant run by three enthusiasts of good and simple cooking. Meals are accompanied by soft background music and you can sit outside in the lovely square during the summer months. Pasta is the house specialty here; for example, Spaghetti with bacon and onion, gnocchi, ravioli, or fettuccine with vegetables. The meat dishes are also good, for example the Veal Roulades. Reservations can be made by calling ahead or sending an email.

Cantina Tirolese Ristorante

"Austrian Trattoria in Rome"

This well-known and easily accessible restaurant with good quality Austrian food is located close to Basilico di San Pietro. It is, in fact, a Tyrolese eatery with wood panels and an overall warm atmosphere. During the summer, it is possible to eat outdoors. Fagioli Soup, Apple Strudel, Fondues, Spätzle and other delicious dishes are on offer. Cantina Tirolese keeps a good wine cellar. The extensive wine list, drawing upon a wide selection of labels in the well-stocked cellar, has one for every dish and every palate. For dessert, dig into some yogurt and blueberry cake.
