Hotel Seven One Seven

"On the Waterfront"

If the classical architecture of the Hotel Seven One Seven doesn't impress you, the breathtaking view of the city surely will. Designed by noted Dutch fashion designer and decorator Kees van der Valk, each of the nine suites has a personality of its own. Listed as a historical site, the restored heritage building with its dark interiors blends the old world charm of a 19th-century home with the amenities of modern life. The name of the hotel is inspired by the street address of the canal itself. With the exception of the Room on Top, all the other rooms are named after famous figures from the world of art such as Goethe, Picasso, and Shakespeare.
