

"Best Japanese/Sushi in Barcelona"

Created By:: Cityseeker

📍 6 Locations Bookmarked

📷 by FLY:D on Unsplash

Koy Shunka

"Spain Meets Sushi"

Koy Shunka is a favorite of world-renowned chef Ferran Adrià, along with any other Barcelonians who are in the know about truly amazing food. The innovative modern dishes incorporate the best of local Catalan ingredients with Asian flavors and techniques, creating a truly unique and delectable parade of culinary offerings. Adventurous diners will receive a tasting menu of dishes like Sashimi en Japón and Gambas de Palamós, although the menu does change monthly so you can almost always get to experience an ever-changing gastronomic experience. If you are extra adventurous, you can opt for the "gastro" tasting menu with even more extravagant dishes.

📞 +34 93 412 7939

🌐 www.koyshunka.com/

✉ info@koyshunka.com

📍 Carrer de Copons 7, Barcelona

📷 by Public Domain

Shunka

"Japanese Treat"

Located behind Hotel Colón, Shunka is regarded as one of the finest Japanese restaurants in Barcelona. Each season, this small and warm restaurant beats its own success records by presenting more and more innovative dishes to its visitors. Reserve a table near Shunka's open kitchen and watch expert chefs perform wonders with the fresh ingredients. And if you have an appetite as big as a sumo wrestler, try the special Sumo-sized set, which includes miso soup, leafy salad topped with salmon and vinegar, shrimp tempura and nigri sushi.

📞 +34 93 412 4991

🌐 koyshunka.com/KoyShunka/home_Shunka.html

📍 carrer del Sagristans 5, Plaça de la Catedral, Barcelona

📷 by Public Domain

ELJ APO NÉS

"A Slice Of Japan"

Not to be confused with its next door restaurant, Tragaluz, ELJ APO NÉS also known as El Japonés del Tragaluz, is a lovely Japanese and sushi eatery on Passatge de la Concepción. Wooden accents and communal tables set the tone of this place. Delightful sushi, sashimi and ceviches will beckon seafood enthusiasts. Specializing on Japanese barbecue using charcoal, their grilled fare will tantalize your palate. Drop in for some delicious sushi and kushiyaki (skewered and grilled) food at ELJ APO NÉS.

📞 +34 93 487 2592

🌐 grupotragaluz.com/restaurante/elj-apo-nes/

📍 Passatge de la Concepción 5, Barcelona

Ikibana

"Japanese Brazilian Fusion"

Ikibana presents diners with the unlikely mix of Japanese and Brazilian, with an eccentric menu consisting of staples of both the cuisines, and merging them flawlessly. The menu consists of dishes such as ceviche mango, tempura prawns, grilled salmon with teriyaki sauce, Brazilian pudding and Japanese ice cream with strawberry coulant rice coated cake. They also have a few drink options available.

 +34 93 295 6732

 ikibana.com/

 Passeig de Picasso 32, Barcelona

Negro-Rojo

"Multicuisine Adventure"

Negro-Rojo is a well known restaurant in Barcelona, Spain. The restaurants have a wide variety of cuisines to offer from Japanese food at Rojo to Italian to Spanish at Negro. The ambience in both the restaurants is said to be very pleasant and the decor is considered to be very modern. It is quite popular with locals and tourists and seems to be a trendy place to visit for a good meal and a must visit in the city.

 +34 93 405 9444

 www.grupotragaluz.com/rest-negrorojo.php

 avinguda Diagonal 640, Entre Entença y Numancia, Barcelona

Kibuka

"Sushi & Drinks"

A simple and cool eatery which adds glamor to Calle Verdi, the Kibuka restaurant offers reasonable and delicious Japanese delicacies, complemented with a vast list of cocktails and wines. With mirrored ceilings, well spread tables, rich paintings on the walls and a wooden flooring, the Kibuka is where you will find the young and working crowds hanging around after a regular day at work. The wait staff are quick with orders and make great recommendations. All in all a great place for Japanese delights.

 +34 93 415 9217

 www.kibuka.com/

 Calle Verdi 64, Barcelona

JOIN US AT:

cityseeker.com