Greater Synagogue of Barcelona

"Synagogue & Museum"

Located in central Barcelona, the Sinagoga Mayor de Barcelona is one of the oldest synagogues in Europe. It sits facing southeast, pointing to Jerusalem. The architecture of the Sinagoga Mayor de Barcelona dates back to the third century, and excavations have unearthed first-century Roman walls made of stones from Carthage. A historic treasure, the synagogue has two rooms, the foyer and the main room, and a healthy number of artifacts on display. It was converted to a museum in 2002 and now welcomes guests both local and visiting to learn about the Jewish history of this lovely city.

Hyde Club

"Dancing & Cocktails"

A fairly recent addition to Barcelona's happening nocturnal scene, Hyde has proven popular with the city's hip club-goers. The lounge is tastefully lit and boasts a modern, angular aesthetic. The music tends to be on the more mellow side of house, making it a perfect spot to hang out with friends as well as dance until the wee hours of the morning. Drinks are pricey but the cocktails are excellent - or if you're feeling particularly flush with cash, then splash out on a bottle of champagne for the table. The plush decor and metallic ivory undertones exude a glamorous and sophisticated vibe. The space also plays host to parties and private events. Check out the website for detailed information.

Jardins de Mossèn Costa i Llobera

"Exotic & Mediterranean Plants"

Located on Montjuïc Mountain, these gardens were opened to the public in 1970. They have exotic plants from Kenya, Ethiopia and Mexico, as well as standard Mediterranean species such as pines. The gardens are named after a poet who wrote an ode to the Pi de Formentor (a pine tree from the Balearic Islands). Although very different from the usual green spaces that are major tourist attractions, this is a lovely place to walk and a good stop-off on the way to the top of the mountain.

Turó de la Rovira

"Heritage Hill in the City"

The Turó de la Rovira is a hill in the city of Barcelona which is a part of the Three Hills Park and one of the archaeological preservation sites which come under the purview of the Museu D'Historia De Barcelona. The hill once had evidence of a prehistoric civilization which can no longer be found. However, the early 20th Century anti-aircraft bunker attracts quite a few tourists. The spectacular, panoramic view from atop the hill is another aspect which attracts visitors.

Jardines de la Tamarita

"An Ornate Garden"

Jardines de la Tamarita is a true oasis of the bustling city of Barcelona. Defined by fountains, an artificial waterfall and a pond, the garden delights your vision with its ornamental beauty. It's also accentuated with sculptures and statues that narrate tales of its historic past. An address to towering trees creating a canopy of shade over its winding paths, Jardines de la Tamarita presents itself as a verdant break from your shopping and touristy excursions.

Sarrià Market

"Classic Cozy Neighborhood Market"

Founded in 1911, the Sarrià market is made up of a Super Estalvi supermarket and various stalls selling fruits and vegetables, meat, poultry and more. In the very center there's a little island where fresh fish is sold, which is typical of this kind of market. This place owes a lot of its charm to its small size - you get the feeling that everyone, sellers and buyers alike, have known each other all their lives. If you're bringing a shopping cart or small children take care to come in one of the back entrances, since all the others have long steep stairs leading in.

Parc del Laberint d'Horta

"Enchanting Paradise"

The Italian architect, Domenico Bagutti, is the mastermind behind Parque del Laberint d'Horta. Constructed in the 18th Century, it shares space with the Desvalls' family mansion in the Horta-Guinardó district and is the oldest of its kind in the city. Spread over nine hectares (20 acres), its most significant feature is the labyrinth that lends its name to the park. It boasts an inspiring amalgamation of Neoclassical and Romantic schools of architecture with manicured lawns punctuated with Greek mythological sculptures, ornate fountains and rich flora. The beautiful layout has served as a backdrop for numerous performing arts and has served as a film set too.

Church of Colònia Güell

"Modern Meets Classic"

As one of the most recognizable landmarks and attractions in Barcelona, Colònia Güell is a popular tourist attraction. Commissioned by Count Eusebi Güell in 1898 for his workers at the nearby textile factory, the church was the mastermind of famed architect, Antoni Gaudí. Unfortunately, only a portion was completed due to a loss of revenue from Güell's textile business. Today the church is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and is also known as, Gaudí's Crypt or Cripta Gaudí. Truly a sight to behold, this landmark is one of Gaudí's lesser-known treasures and unlike any other structure you'll see.
