Mercure Lyon Plaza République

"Elegant Hotel At Decent Price"

Mercure Plaza République enjoys a pretty façade, which is typical of Lyonnais edifices from the past century. Although aesthetically sober, it, nevertheless, possesses many attractions (take a look at the structure of the windows and the admirable little sculptures, which adorn them). The rooms are all tastefully decorated and exude an aura of comfort. You can relax and sip on exotic drinks at their bar. This very comfortable place is found on the edge of the Place de la République; so you will be right in the middle of a lovely pedestrian zone, which is the most popular well as busiest shopping area in the city.

Mercure Grand Hotel Saxe Lafayette

"Comfort on a Budget"

Mercure Grand Hotel Saxe Lafayette is an impressive building, which you can spot from a long way off, as it sits on the largest road in the business district. The modern décor favors lighter tones and furniture, which skilfully combine wood and synthetic materials. The rooms are comfortable and make for a cozy stay. You can also host your business events in one of the hotel's seven meeting rooms. The in-house restaurant and bar cater to all your wining and dining needs. Smoking is prohibited inside the hotel.

Hôtel Foch

"Near the Tete d'Or Park"

This hotel is in Lyon's most chic and relaxed arrondissement. The Hôtel Foch is housed in one of the attractive old buildings that adorn this excellent residential area. The décor is beautiful and warm, the rooms are a good size, and the breakfast room is a joy for those who love fireplaces. Its geographical situation means you will be close to the Tête d'Or Park (140 hectares of nature) and the peninsula (if you cross a bridge). The rooms are quaint and are decorated in pastel colors. Considering the small number of rooms, you are advised to book early for the summer season.
