Butcher

"Meaty Goodness"

If juicy burgers and succulent steaks are what please your heart, then Butcher is just the place for you. The menu changes regularly, offering up a delectable selection of prime cuts and scrumptious burgers that are sure to please even the most discerning and ardent meat lovers. Grilled to perfection and packed with flavor, every dish served is heaped with oodles of meaty goodness. A fine selection of bourbon, whiskey and cocktails compliments the scrumptious food menu. The restaurant itself is simple and relaxed; a great place to enjoy a meal with friends.

Carnegie Hall

"For The Love of Meat"

Located in the Gerland neighborhood, Carnegie Hall serves high quality steaks meals in an atmospheric setting. The restaurant is typically packed to the rafters on weekends with families and groups who visit here for the love of meat, so getting a table is a bit tricky unless you call ahead. Bring a large appetite as the steak portions are generous, yet prices are delightfully reasonable. The Steak Tartare is especially recommended, and since each dish comes with a healthy helping of potatoes, the culinary experience leaves little to be desired.
