Atera

"Michelin-starred Treat"

Garnering prestigious accolades, Atera is a fine dining establishment located in the Tribeca neighborhood of New York City. Showcasing his technical mastery, executive chef Ronny Emborg offers an exquisite tasting menu with multiple courses for patrons that take them on a sensory journey. The courses feature innovative creations such as beer macaron with sturgeon caviar, cured swordfish belly, and lamb tartare. The dining experience at Atera is highly interactive, with chefs preparing and plating dishes in front of guests seated at a U-shaped counter surrounding the kitchen. Reservations are highly recommended.

Momofuku Ko

"Exclusive Fusion Dining"

Momofuku Ko has been called one of the greatest restaurants in the world. It is for this reason, and the fact that the restaurant only has a capacity of 14 diners at a time, that securing a seat can be particularly challenging here. If you are lucky enough to do so, you will be treated to a ten-course meal of Asian fusion dishes that you won't soon forget. Diners sit at the kitchen counter and are served directly by the chefs who whip up delicacies as they serve. Trendy, exclusive and worthy of the hype, Momofuku Ko is a true New York City treasure.

Blue Hill

"Fresh Off The Farm"

Food connoisseurs believe that the quality of a meal is determined by that of its ingredients. With this philosophy in mind, Blue Hill forms part of a growing trend of like-minded restaurants in New York that insist on using the choicest produce in their kitchens. Dan, David and Lauren Barber inherited the family's farm in Massachusetts from whom it gets its name and inspiration. Its fascinating history is synthesized in the landmark building in Greenwich Village that this place calls home. The creative menu includes marinated beet salad, Berkshire pig's belly, venison liver terrine, grilled celery root risotto and Hudson Valley chicken. Epicureans can dine in the elegant and sophisticated seating area for a five course seasonal tasting menu with artisanal wine.

One if by Land, Two if by Sea

"Truly Romantic"

One if by Land, Two if by Sea embodies romance, featuring piano music, flowers, fireplaces, balcony seating and dim lighting. It is a favorite spot for marriage proposals and special occasions. The signature dish is Beef Wellington wherein the filet mignon is wrapped in sumptuous pastry dough. The desserts and the extensive wine list are also worth inspecting.

Wallse

"Rostbraten or Palatschinken"

Wallse was awarded Michelin star almost as soon as it opened, creating the kind of buzz that you can't buy - and a pretty lengthy reservation list. The food is largely Austrian - it's rich, a little on the heavy side, and served in generous portions. The desserts are exemplary - warm apple strudel anyone? And the wine list is solid. It's the kind of restaurant that warrants a special occasion; be ready to spend big but eat fantastically well. Opt for the outside patio on those gorgeous, sunny days.

Buddakan

"Eating as a Zen Practice"

Buddakan offers modern Asian cuisine to New York foodies. Located on the east side of Chelsea Market, this 16,000-square-foot (1486-square-meter) restaurant has an ultra-chic yet dramatic look featuring dim lighting and awe-inspiring chandeliers. Indulge your taste buds and choose from exotic dishes made from vegetables and meats, including shrimp, fish, chicken, beef, duck, and lamb, all served with a Chinese twist. The trendy restaurant has even been featured on television and in movies like Sex and the City.

Eleven Madison Park

"Exquisite Culinary Art"

Irreplaceable even in a city overflowing with restaurants, Eleven Madison Park offers one of the best fine dining experiences in all of New York City. The elegant eatery is located on Madison Avenue and takes its name from the charming Madison Square Park that it faces, making it a central staple of the Manhattan culinary scene. Specializing in eight- to ten-course tasting menus, Eleven Madison Park serves contemporary, French-inspired cuisine created from only the best ingredients. You can also stop by the bar for a less involved meal, a quick and delicious bite, or a refreshing cocktail. Just prepare to be amazed, no matter how you choose to experience the exquisite vision of Chef Daniel Humm.

La Grenouille

"Superior Classic French Restaurant"

Although this quintessential Manhattan French restaurant may be pricey, La Grenouille is a thoroughly romantic place to enjoy a memorable meal. It has long been known for its spectacular floral displays, great food, and good service. The prix fixe dinner combined with wine makes for an excellent combination. Dishes can be ordered a la carte as well, these include delicacies such as frogs' legs sauteed with garlic and tomato compote and filet mignon with potato and onion crisps. Do not forget to cap the meal with some indulgent desserts.

Le Bernardin

"Seafood At Its Best"

In 1986, sibling owners Maguy and Gilbert Le Coze opened Le Bernardin in New York after tasting phenomenal success with their 1972 flagship restaurant in Paris. It has continued to thrive under Chef Éric Ripert after Gilbert's tragic demise in 1994. Seafood has been the inspiration behind the menu at Le Bernardin since inception. The tasting menu takes diners through delicacies such as Osetra Caviar, Dungeness Crab, Lobster Tail and Black Bass. Moreover, an extensive collection of around 900 wines complements every dish to perfection. Enjoy handcrafted cocktails from your eclectic lounge. The appetizers are tasty, and dinner is like a set menu but one that affords you the freedom to choose from different dishes for your meal. The flavors are good, given the chef's experiments with different cuisines, not only French but a smattering of Asian as well, e.g., shrimps with coconut sauce. A dash of Caribbean is thrown into the mix, with the fruits added to the dessert.

Marea

"Upscale Italian"

Serving Italian seafood creations to delighted patrons, Marea has already earned two coveted Michelin stars for their polished menu of authentic Italian coastal offerings. The chic interior is perfect for business or romance, and private dining rooms can be readily arranged. Chef Michael White's deft Mediterranean touch pairs globally sourced ingredients like sea urchin, lobster, oysters, marlin, scallops and octopus with rich sauces, fragrant herbs and bright, citrus flavors. Studying the menu alone will whet your appetite. If not, a glass of wine from their thoughtfully selected wine list will surely do the trick.

Per Se

"Napa Meets New York"

Renowned chef Thomas Keller brought the sophisticated appeal of his acclaimed Napa Valley restaurant, The French Laundry, to New York City with Per Se, which now ranks alongside its sister restaurant as one of the best in the world. Per Se is situated in the Time Warner Center, and its prime location offers guests the opportunity to take in beautiful views of Central Park while enjoying seasonal, French-influenced American cuisine. Beyond the main dining room, there is a lounge bar, a wine cellar, and two private dining rooms that are perfect for celebratory occasions. No matter where you are, Per Se is as visually stunning as its cuisine is delicious, featuring earthy tones, a charming fireplace, and wood and stone accents.

Masa

"A Sushi Temple"

With pride of place accorded to it, given its location in the Time Warner Centre building at New York City's Columbus Circle, Masa is a sushi lovers' paradise. Their menu is not set in stone. Owner and Head Chef Masayoshi Takayama decides on every dish served here. Only the freshest local catch and produce, along with fish largely sourced from Japan go into these dishes. To add to this, the restaurant has earned a place in the prestigious Michelin guide and is known for being among the world's most expensive restaurants. Its elegant wooden interiors make the ambience surreal, and the team of customer-facing staff provide immaculate service, thereby offering patrons an incredible, unprecedented dining experience. The restaurant policy of mandatory reservations in advance is in view of the limited number of guests it can delight at any given point in time.

Jean Georges

"Exquisitely Splendid"

Jean-Georges Vongerichten's impeccable French Contemporary restaurant, located on the southwest corner of Central Park in the Trump International Hotel & Tower, offers modern French food with Pan-Asian and other modern influences. The gleaming, modern space complements phenomenal dishes like herb-crusted rack of lamb and crispy sauteed frog legs. Black-clad waiters provide unsurpassed service. In addition to its main dining room, Jean-Georges also features a bar and lounge area where guests can enjoy cocktails and small plates. Jean-Georges has been awarded two Michelin stars and has consistently been ranked as one of the top restaurants in New York City and the world.

Daniel

"Nothing but the Best"

Owned by the legendary Chef Daniel Boulud, this award-winning French restaurant is considered by many to be the one of the best dining experiences in the city. The cuisine is contemporary, putting a fresh spin on traditional recipes and is both expertly prepared and exquisitely plated. Enjoy divine dishes like rabbit saddle with chorizo and tarragon mustard or wasabi-marinated hamachi with white sturgeon caviar and Meyer lemon coulis amid fine Italian Renaissance décor. Opt for the tasting menu or let the knowledgeable staff at Daniel help you create your perfect meal, complete with outstanding drink pairings.
