Henrietta Hudson

"Ladies Roadhouse"

This relaxed neighborhood bar draws a mixed group of lesbians. The jukebox plays Melissa Etheridge, Janis Joplin and the Indigo Girls and there is always a wait for the pool table. Many straight women stop by, knowing they can enjoy a drink and have a good time without a care. Henrietta Hudson's also hosts live music from time to time. When in town, head over to the lively place to make new friends and enjoy a night of laid-back fun immersed in rounds of pool and endless dancing.

The Monster

"Just A Scary Moniker"

The Monster Bar in Grove Street, New York, is more than just a place to grab a drink or enjoy a show—it's a sanctuary where people come to escape the ordinary and embrace the extraordinary. Launched in 1971, The Monster has seen many celebrities and iconic figures grace its premises and has also been the location for many television series. Spread across multiple levels, it features a piano bar and a lively nightclub where you can dance away till the wee hours of the morning. This affable gay spot is decorated with movie posters and advertisements. From drag shows and go-go boys to happy hours, there is plenty of entertainment going on at this dual establishment. Behind the bar, a team of skilled mixologists crafts a wide array of creative and tantalizing cocktails. The menu features both classic concoctions and innovative signature drinks that reflect the spirit and personality of the Monster Bar.

The Eagle

"Gay Leather Bar"

This more-than-a-decade-old bar is popular with NYC's LGBT community, mainly due to its great ambiance, rooftop deck, and classic leather bar vibe. Acclaimed as one of the best leather bars in New York City, the establishment is comfortable and friendly and has fantastic staff, great tunes, and pool tables for those in the mood for games. The venue also boasts a rooftop bar called The Rooftop Deck, which is superb in summer. The bar is especially renowned for its annual 'Mr Eagle' competition.

Industry Bar

"Fun Time Out"

One of the most popular gay bars in the city, Industry Bar is located on West 52nd Street. The vibrant, colorful place is best known for the burlesque performances of Sherry Vine. Every night there's something new brewing, which can be checked out on their weekly schedule. Open all week, the party here goes on till wee hours on morning. The bartenders are friendly, the drinks are stiff and the ambiance is half a measure short of a carnival. Drop by for a fun time in town.
