Judson Studios

"Glorious Glass Studio"

Specializing in stained glass work, the Judson Studio is situated in the Highland Park Section, Los Angeles. The studio was founded in the 1890s by William Lees Judson along with his three sons. It has composed, invented and installed various shapes of architectural glass. The studio stands as one of the most distinguished experts in the said field. It is host to various events that tend to enhance the practical knowledge of the art. Special hour-long tours are offered weekly.

Morrison Hotel Gallery

"It's Only Rock 'n' Roll"

One of the finest collections of prints of rock 'n' roll legends you will ever encounter is housed right here in this smart little gallery, located on Sunset Boulevard. Positioned near a few galleries and bookstores on a well-trodden footpath, the place beckons you in for a casual visit. You may also choose to visit during one of the rowdy, crowded openings. One way or another, if you are a photography buff or a rock 'n' roll fan, the gallery is well worth a visit. Some of the shots are extremely rare and might not be available for public viewing anywhere else. Most of the prints are for sale and would make for a lavish, unforgettable present for someone special. But, you need not be a buyer to get a gander. The owners amiably welcome anyone for a leisurely browse of their fabulous treasures, regardless of your buying potential.
