Excalibur Hotel and Casino

"A Luxurious Abode"

The drawbridge is down, the castle welcomes all. A mighty kingdom of knights, royalty and fine entertainment, Excalibur is a premier hotel soaked in the finer nuances of luxury. Structured like a magnificent castle, Excalibur is an extravagant slice of the Las Vegas Strip. The hotel has been named after King Arthur's sword, while its castle moat hosts an epic nightly battle between a fire-breathing dragon and Merlin the Magician. Another attraction at the hotel is the Fantasy Faire, which is a perfect amalgam of amusement and fun. The rooms are extremely comfortable and the service is excellent. The action-packed casino consists of numerous table games and slot machines, an absolute delight for patrons who love to gamble. This themed hotel has increasingly served as a muse in popular media and boasts interiors which epitomize opulence.

Luxor

"Resort With King Tut Style"

A sleek, glass-cloaked replica of Egypt's iconic pyramid, Luxor is an exuberant hotel studded on the southern end of the Las Vegas Strip. Established in 1993, this hotel is fronted by a giant, rather elegant sphinx. A locus of all things luxury and entertainment, Luxor is home to a sprawling casino, clubs, a spa, and other high-end facilities. The pyramid reaches 350 feet into the air, the equivalent of 36 stories. It is one of the world's largest atrium and a crown jewel of Las Vegas. This luxury resort nestles amid many splendid edifices like Mandala Bay and Excalibur. Perhaps the resort's most defining feature after its facade is the intense Luxor Light Beam that crowns it, being nothing less than a beacon of light for the hotel.

The STRAT - Hotel, Casino & Skypod

"A Thrilling Stay"

In a city where superlatives reign, the The STRAT - Hotel, Casino & Skypod really deserves a few. What was once a modest casino, is now a vivacious hotel, which dominates the scintillating expanse of the city. The hotel boasts one of the tallest free-standing observation towers in the U.S., and the world's highest thrill ride, X Scream, which offers breathtaking views of downtown Las Vegas and The Strip from a 900-foot elevation. The STRAT - Hotel, Casino & Skypod also has excellent dining, shopping, and entertainment, as well as a 'thrill a minute' casino. The hotel features amenities such as a roof-top swimming pool and the excellent Top of the World gourmet restaurant. A shopping arcade with international theme zones occupies level two above the sprawling casino floor.

Golden Nugget Las Vegas

"Old Favorite, New Look"

Golden Nugget Hotel Casino has a totally new look and you will like it. The lobby is adorned with Tivoli lights, lush palms, gleaming white granite floors, and columns. The luxurious guest rooms and suites are beautifully decorated, giving a comfortable feel. Each room offers a view of the mountains, the pool (complete with a waterslide through a shark tank,) or the Fremont Street Experience. Fine restaurants located in the hotel include The Buffet, Grotto Ristorante, and Lillie's Asian Cuisine. The full-service spa is a real treat after a long day and offers separate facilities for men and women.
