Rittenhouse 1715

"Luxury's Abode at Rittenhouse Square"

Built in 1903 as a carriage house for Alfred C. Harrison, Rittenhouse 1715 is today a luxurious boutique hotel that effortlessly blends modern amenities with old-time charm. Furnished in a classic style reminiscent of luxurious early 20th-century homes, the hotel exudes a quiet charm and an air of comfort and opulence. With service that would befit a king, the staff at Rittenhouse 1715 ensure that each guest is treated with the utmost respect and genuine hospitality. Every morning, the cafe serves up a delicious and heart-warmingly sumptuous continental and a la carte breakfast, while drinks are served in the drawing room between 5:30p and 7p daily, allowing guests time to relax and interact with other guests. The hotel also offers its guests the option to book special packages to complement their stay at the hotel, to mark a special occasion, or to simply enhance their stay. While the hotel itself cannot boast a parking space, there are a number of parking lots located at a convenient distance. Further, the hotel is located within easy reach of a number of local attractions, such as Rittenhouse Square, City Hall, Love Park and Rittenhouse Row.

Morris House Hotel

"B&B Hotel"

The Reynolds-Morris House built by John and William Reynolds in 1787 in a major landmark in the Washington Square West neighborhood of Philadelphia. The beautiful building inspired by the Georgian style of architecture, now operates as a top-notch hotel. Giving the cozy feel of a charming, old bed & breakfast and providing services conducive to an upscale hotel, the Morris House Hotel is quite a popular accommodation option in the City of Brotherly Love. The building was added to National Register of Historic Places as well as National Historic Landmark in 1967. Needless to say, a stay here will be culturally enriching.
