Confetteria Romanengo Pietro fu Stefano

"Royal Sweets"

Confetteria Romanengo Pietro fu Stefano is synonymous with high-quality sweets. They have been made carefully using methods handed down from father to son. The composer Giuseppe Verdi would never miss the chance to buy sweets and candied fruit from "Romanengo" when he stayed in Genoa. The shop is in the old city, down a narrow lane off the Piazza Soziglia. This is the main shopping area of Genoa. Since 1780, the patisserie has made delicious sweets, chocolates, fondants, syrups, rosolio (a kind of syrup) and jams. These delicacies have been enjoyed far outside too.

J'aime les Crepes

"For Lovers of Crepes"

Founded in the year 1995, J'aime les Crepes is a charming little creperie, located at the beginning of Stradone Sant Agostino. The place is small and cosy, and has a few seating arrangements, making it an ideal place for a quick breakfast or lunch. It is popular for its variety of traditional and gluten free crepes, making it difficult for customers to choose their pick. The must try's are the Little Red Riding hood, Crepes with strawberries, Custard, Grand Marnier and Chocolate. The other specialty of the house is Galettes. There are tons of possibilities for toppings and fillings, which one must try.
