Capozzi Antichita

"Antique Furniture And More"

Capozzi Antichita have been dealers of antique furniture and showpieces since 1968. The pieces are beautiful and royal, not to mention the archaic charm that their ornate designs bring with them. Chairs with exquisite patterns on the seat and backrest, overwhelming table designs, antique pottery and paintings-the collection is a sight to behold. All the pieces are creative, beautiful and baroque, and getting one piece for your home might as well be a good idea.

Arduino 1870

"Vintage Love"

Though Arduino 1870 opened in 1907, the shop was a popular cafe in the 19th Century until goldsmith, Alberto Arduino, bought it and turned into an antique shop. Retaining its original decor replete with pine cabinets, black and white marble, cupboards, display counters and signage, it is a charming place with a lot of history. Though small in size, you will find an amazing collection of vintage objects that can be great gifts, souvenirs, home decor and even heirlooms. Everything is beautifully arranged in the display counters and are enclosed by glass. Browse through the numismatics, ceramics, costume jewelry, jewelry, paintings, glass and more. You will always find a story behind these objects. Don't miss this spot if you love antiques.
