Plaza Theatre

"Old Charm"

Catch a movie at the oldest cinema of the city. Established in 1939, it has managed to maintain its charm and its status as Atlanta's true independent cinema. There are three halls screening Hollywood blockbusters and offbeat classics. Once in the neighborhood, find a good spot to park your car, dine at any nearby restaurant and then walk your way to this little venue for some movie magic in an old-time atmosphere. Call or check the website for schedules.

Starlight Six Drive-In Theatre

"Drive-In Theater"

This classic venue is a standing monument to a fading American tradition, as it is one of the last remaining drive-in theater in the Atlanta area. Its six screens are always in motion, showing first-release films throughout the week and on weekends. Depending on which night you visit, you might even catch a double feature.

AMC Phipps Plaza 14

"A Cozy Venue"

This popular 14-screen cinema is located in the lavish uptown area. Come by to watch the latest Hollywood flicks in its comfortable settings. Independent films are also featured occasionally. Although the screens are smaller in size and the sound is adjusted to a comfortable mid-level, AMC Phipps Plaza 14 seems to draw a lot of movie buffs. So make sure you get here early. And one plus point is that snacks from the food court can be taken in with you!
