

"Best Japanese/Sushi in Seattle"

Created by: Cityseeker

📍 10 Locations Bookmarked

📷 by stu_spivack ©

Japonessa

"Elegant Japanese Dining"

Japonessa is an elegant Japanese restaurant that is designed to reflect comfort and style. The ambiance is warm with the velvet curtains at the entrance and the seating is cozy and trendy. The menu has a huge selection of sushi, with an option for every palate. Apart from Sushi, Japonessa's menu also has salads, sashimi rolls and the bento lunch box which go best with hot or cold Sake. The drinks options also include house wine. Check the full menu on the website.

☎ +1 206 971 7979

💻 www.japonessa.com/

📍 1400 1st Avenue, Seattle WA

📷 by stu_spivack ©

Maneki

"Serving Sushi for Over 100 Years"

Located in the international district of Seattle and established in 1904, Maneki continues to offer traditional and authentic Japanese sushi and dishes at shockingly reasonable prices. Menu items include spider rolls, ten-zaru soba noodles, gyozas, chicken karaage, avocado ponzu and much more. Make a reservation for your group and enjoy your meal in a Tatami room, where you can try the traditional Japanese-style seating on the floor. Try a sake from the bar, which is open daily until midnight.

☎ +1 206 622 2631

💻 www.manekirestaurant.com/

✉ maneki_restaurant@yahoo.com

📍 304 6th Avenue South, Seattle WA

📷 by avlyxz ©

Umi Sake House

"Sake & Sushi"

As the name suggests, Umi Sake House specializes in all things sake and provides a comprehensive menu of both hot and cold styles of the Japanese rice wine. The menu primarily consists of numerous sushi rolls, but other Japanese dishes are available as well. The restaurant also does both an afternoon and late night happy hour that leads to double the fun at affordable prices. The restaurant has an intimate ambiance that is great for a romantic evening with loved ones or a peaceful meal alone.

☎ +1 206 374 8717

💻 www.umisakehouse.com

📍 2230 First Avenue, Seattle WA

📷 by [puamelia] ©

Wasabi Bistro

"Creative Japanese Fusion Cuisine"

This lively eatery popular with the hip Belltown crowd, serves up inventive Japanese fusion creations. Purists may be disappointed by Americanized concoctions such as the deep-fried Las Vegas roll (featuring eel, cucumber, cream cheese, and avocado), but sushi novices may find the offerings more approachable than traditional raw bar fare. Entrees include yakisoba, udon and a variety of seafood dishes. Happy hours are from 4p to 6p. The restaurant also hosts late-night happy hours.

+1 206 441 6044
(Reservations)

www.wasabibistro.net/

info@wasabiseattle.com

2311 Second Avenue, Seattle
WA

by adactio

Shiro's Sushi Restaurant

"Top-Notch Sushi"

It's hard to believe that this little corner eatery serves some of Seattle's best sushi. But then, considering chef Shiro Kashiba's formidable reputation of having served important Japanese delegates and ministers, it's not really surprising. Starting off in the city with the now popular Nikko restaurant, he installed himself and his considerable talents in this simple but elegant Belltown storefront in 1994. Turning out crisp cuts of fish and hand rolls with as much flourish as food, Shiro's is renowned for innovative adaptations of local seafood in sushi. The chef's-choice Sushi Dinner covers the basics but it's also rewarding to sample from the sushi list. The restaurant serves sake, beer and wine.

+1 206 443 9844

www.shiros.com/

contact@shiros.com

2401 2nd Avenue, Seattle
WA

by orijinal

+1 206 625 9604

I Love Sushi

"Top Raw Bar"

Exit the street car at Union Lake for this great sushi restaurant. I Love Sushi is always full on weekend nights, but the food they serve is worth the wait. You will find some of Seattle's best sushi, sashimi, and other Japanese specialties here, like the favorite California roll and teriyaki chicken. Reservations are accepted weeknights only.

www.ilovesushi.com

1001 Fairview Avenue North, Seattle
WA

by jwalsh

+1 206 281 1352

Shiki Japanese Restaurant

"Japanese Classic Recipes"

For those who like a bit of adventure in their food, Shiki Japanese is a good place to try out innovative dishes. The menu also offers traditional items ranging from sushi and rice to noodles. Try the katsuri donburi or bowl of rice served with pork. The udon noodles are also a good choice. The sushi menu comprises of shrimp, scallop, mackerel, eel, yellow-tail, flounder and octopus each of which is unique and well worth a try. The kappa roll or cucumber roll is another offbeat dish on the menu.

www.shikijapaneserestaurant.com/

shikiseattle@gmail.com

4 West Roy Street, Corner of
Roy & Queen Anne Avenue
North, Seattle WA

by ontent.wcities.com

+1 206 547 0937

Sushi Kappo Tamura

"Sushi Haven"

Brainchild of chef Taichi Kitamura, Sushi Kappo Tamura offers authentic Japanese cuisine, which includes painstakingly sourcing ingredients from the Pacific. Since opening its doors in 2010, Sushi Kappo Tamura has been thronged by gourmands who crave for a taste of their delectable sushi. Sushi made from mackerel is highly recommended. For some of the best offerings of this place, order from their seasonal special. Sushi Kappo Tamura provides a special 'Sake Flight' menu, wherein guests get an opportunity to taste different Japanese brews.

www.sushikappotamura.com/

info@sushikappotamura.com

2968 Eastlake Avenue East,
Seattle WA

by avlyxz

Chiso Restaurant

"Sushi Haven"

Chiso Restaurant is a popular establishment among sushi aficionados and folks with a taste for Asian cuisine. The restaurant strikes you with a minimalist and no-nonsense approach, as the focus directly falls on the food served. Reasonable prices and a great staff will turn you into an instant fan of Chiso Restaurant. This sushi joint is one of the most popular Asian eateries in the neighborhood of Fremont and if you're in town make sure to visit.

+1 206 632 3430

www.chisofremont.com/

info@chisofremont.com

3520 Fremont Avenue North, Seattle WA

by Gunawan Kartapranata

Mashiko

"One of the Best Sushi Joints"

Making use of the freshest of ingredients that are organic as well as locally produced, Mashiko features an interesting and innovative Japanese menu. Hugely popular, this eatery is always packed with patrons and reservations come highly recommended. Touted as one of the best sushi places in all of Seattle, it's a must visit for Japanese cuisine lovers. Take an adventure into the fairly unheard food menu of Mashiko's and be ready to be amazed, as the chef personally makes sure that your adventures are fruitful.

+1 206 935 4339

www.sushiwhore.com/

sushipimp@sushiwhore.com

4725 California Avenue Southwest, Seattle WA

JOIN US AT:

cityseeker.com