Riverwalk

"Walk the Town"

The Riverwalk is a great way to see the city of Jupiter while on a bike or on foot. Start from either the Jupiter Inlet or Ocean Way and you will see points of interest around every meandering corner. Some of the sites include the Jupiter Inlet Lighthouse & Museum, Burt Reynolds Park, the Loxahatchee River Center and other natural charms like the Mangrove Bay, Jupiter Ridge and the intracoastal waterway itself. Needless to say, a sunrise will welcome your morning jog, a cool breeze will join your afternoon walk and the charming sunset will enhance a romantic after-dinner stroll.

Roger Dean Stadium

"Marlins vs. Cardinals"

Roger Dean Stadium is the only stadium in the U.S. that houses four minor-league baseball teams as well as two MLB teams during the spring. Here, the state-of-the-art facilities and the Florida weather allow for 'America's Pastime' to be played all-year around. It's the spring training home of the St. Louis Cardinals and Florida Marlins and it can hold about 7,000 fans.

DuBois Park

"Beautiful Jupiter Park and Lagoon"

Jupiter's beautiful DuBois Park is a good place for the nature lover to spend the day. Its abundance of sideways-walking hermit crabs will thrill any child, and the water in the lagoon is so shallow you could bring a chair and literally sit inside it. The beach area is small, but it is guarded during the winter and on weekends. The DuBois Pioneer Home and the Indian Mound archaeological site are also located on this property as well.

Downtown Abacoa

"Appealing To All"

Downtown Abacoa or more colloquially, Abacoa Town Center, is the entertainment hub of the area. This revitalized zone brims with cultural activities such as the yearly Fiesta Maya and many more. Designed like a classic European main street of yore, the relaxed vibe of this entire place is really appealing. Stroll the wide, beautiful pathways leading to a central fountain and then to the storefronts, galleries and restaurants. Idle away people watching, shopping, and dining at this popular local haunt.

Jupiter Inlet Lighthouse & Museum

"Oldest County Structure"

This maritime relic designed and built by George Gordon Meade in 1860 is one of the oldest lighthouses in Florida as well as holding the title as the oldest existing structure in Palm Beach County. It was only illuminated for a couple of years before the confederate army extinguished its light during the Civil War, but when the war was over, it was re-lit and has been guiding ships along the shore to this day. Bring your camera to capture the 156-foot red beauty, standing tall on the Jupiter coast.
